Third of tax base in peril

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

The defeat in the Nov. 7 election of a constitutional amendment that would have voided a 1979 phase-out of all personal property assessments may cost the Quad-City area approximately 32 percent of its overall tax base, a compilation of tax figures disclosed today.

Such a loss in revenue would deal a resounding blow to taxing bodies in all four area townships, but particularly in Venice Township where tax agencies already have been hit hard by declining property valuations in recent years.

Estimates based on 1977 assessments—the latest complete figures available—show Venice would lose 47.7, or nearly half, of its taxing power.

Granite City Township, based on the same 1977 figures, would stand to lose 35.4 percent of its tax base, while Nameoki and Chouteau Townships would be slightly more fortunate with approximate losses of 18.7 percent in Nameoki Township and 18.5 percent in Chouteau Township.

Unless the Illinois legislature takes steps to replace the personal property assessments with a new form of tax revenue, the losses under terms of the 1970 Illinois Constitution would affect the 1979 property valuations on which tax collections would be based in 1980.

The Illinois Constitution provided for elimination of personal property taxes against individuals during the early 1970s and scheduled a complete phase-out of the remaining personal property assessments against industrial and business firms in 1979.

Due to lack of replacement legislation in the meantime, a proposal to amend that part of the constitution eliminating all personal property tax next year was placed on the Nov. 7 election ballot. That amendment and another that would have exempted from taxation the property holdings of Congressionally chartered veterans service organization, was defeated.

James Barton, Madison County supervisor of assessments, said the defeat of the amendment pertaining to personal property tax extensions confronts taxing bodies throughout the Quad-City area and the county with the possibility of drastic cuts in their bases and a proportionate cut in tax revenue after 1979.

Barton emphasized the 1977 personal property values provide a basis for estimating tax losses, unless replacement legislation is passed, since the percentages of projected cuts would be the same in any case.

He noted that Granite City Township had a total property assessment of $178,654,670 for the 1977 year, of which $63,150,660 was in personal property assessments. The personal property value in this instance was 35.4 percent of the total valuation, or the amount that would be eliminated under the constitution provision.

THREE-YEAR COURT BATTLE ends Wednesday as a "headache" ball demolishes property at 321-327 Madison Ave., Madison. The court condemned the building, after what seemed to city officials a never-ending battle, on May 1, 1977, only to see the effort delayed again by a restraining order and a suit to prevent razing of the property. Associate Circuit Court Judge Philip J. Rarick dismissed the suit last week.

$601,913 to UW agencies

The full United Way campaign tally of $601,913, a new record, is available for allocation to agencies, administrative costs and shrinkage allowance, it was announced after an executive committee meeting Wednesday by UW President William F. Winter, editor of the Press-Record.

For the sixth consecutive year, the annual fall financial drive of the Tri-Cities Area United Way has surpassed its goal. This year's basic goal was $548,000 and the challenge objective was $600,000.

Data assembled under the leadership of William F. Donovan showed yesterday afternoon that the fall 1978 campaign to help meet member agencies' 1979 operating costs "broke the $600,000 barrier" and reached $601,913.

Works manager of the American Steel Foundries plant in Granite City, Donovan served as general chairman of the September-October solicitation. Vice-chairmen of the drive were George Knecht of the United Steelworkers of America and Mickey Chetovich of Granite City Steel.

The UW executive committee, meeting at the Press-Record conference room, conferred with Paul Costello, UW budget and allocations chairman.

It was the consensus that the full amount raised and pledged through yesterday should be allocated, taking into account the agencies' verified needs and the impact of inflation on their costs.

Costello and his budget committee aides will meet and develop specific recommendations on agency allocations, for consideration by the Tri-Cities Area United Way board of directors at a meeting to be held at 4 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 6.

Whether to halt plans for a Nov. 25 general obligation bond issue election in the Granite City Park District will be the subject of a meeting of the park board at 5 p.m. today.

Called at the request of Board Members George Sykes and Jeff Worthen, the p.m. discussion and decision, the bond election may be eliminated for this year. Among the reasons the proposal apparently "made too many waves" with the electorate was the plan for inclusion of a wave mechanism in the proposed new pool as part of a $1,785,000 improvement program.

Park officials here are convinced that the wave feature would enable a new pool to be a money-maker instead of a financial burden, but many citizens appear to regard it as an extravagance that could increase the tax burden of retired persons and others.

The existing Wilson Park pool, built in 1940, has serious water line and other problems associated with its age and design. The park district believes it is under obligation to Illinois Public Health Department regulations to try to replace it with a new pool.

Park Board President Jake Hinterer and Recreation Director Gary Grandier met with considerable success in presenting the bond election information to various groups, but the limited time between now and the election restricts the number of organizations that can be visited.

Scheduled appearances before several Parent-Teacher Associations may be omitted if the Nov. 25 election date is board meeting has as its agenda the question of whether to cancel arrangements for the referendum on building a swimming pool and playgrounds, enclosing the ice skating rink and expanding and improving tennis facilities.

Due to new developments affecting the Illinois state election law, park commissioners were advised that such an election would have to take place before Dec. 1 or, if not, that it would need to be delayed until April 1979 or later.

The board felt the necessity of proceeding with the voting on Saturday, Nov. 25, but has since sensed massive "negative vibrations" from taxpayers. As a consequence, subject to today's 5 eliminated. Whether the project would be revived in 1979 is uncertain, but commissioners indicate that it undoubtedly would be revised in some respects.

They feel the entire referendum plan was in the best interest of the public and could have been "sold" to voters—if there had been enough time, and if they could have found more effective ways of describing the advantages.

Aware that the public may be strongly against any undertaking that some people might categorize as "extravagant," park officials appear ready to cancel an immediate election and also to revamp the elements of the plan before submitting it again.

50-year term

Kenneth Chalmers Spiroff, 40, of 14734 Second St., Madison, was sentenced in Madison County Circuit Court at Edwardsville Tuesday to serve 50 years in prison after pleading guilty to 18 charges stemming from five sexual assault cases in the Quad-City area during the summer.

Chief Circuit Judge Harold R. Clark sentenced Spiroff to serve five concurrent

50-year terms in the custody of the Illinois Department of Corrections, which means he will not be eligible for parole for 25 years, according to Madison County State's Attorney Nicholas G. Byron, whose office negotiated the plea and recommended the sentence.

Although the normal sentences for rape, deviate sexual assault, aggravated kidnapping and armed robbery, which come under the new Illinois Class X designation, are from 6 to 30 years, Byron said he

$170,000 design cost for 2-lane overpass

A cutback in the size of the proposed downtown overpass from a four-lane to a two-lane highway will cost Granite City approximately $170,000 for a new set of design plans, Aaron Pierson, vice-president of the M. W. Architects & Engineers, told a special meeting of the City Council Tuesday night.

Pierson, whose St. Louis planning and engineering firm is involved in the engineering work on three major city projects, told the aldermen that only 20 percent of the original four-lane design plans can be salvaged in preparing new plans for a two-lane structure. The original set of plans cost the city approximately $200,000.

"This is an entirely new set of plans for an entirely new structure," the engineering official said.

During the same meeting, Pierson offered city officials a new suggestion for resolving problems in construction of the roof on the new Granite City police station at 23rd Street and Madison Avenue, which now appears fated for a delay of at least a month.

The suggestion constituted a fourth alternative presented to the aldermen in an effort to redesign the police station roof so that it will not pond water and therefore qualify for bonding by Johns Manville Co. Even if the pending problem is solved, the city still faces a delay in construction of the police station building because an East St. Louis manufacturing firm is not on schedule in providing coping sections for the roof structure, the council was told by Dave Nolan, project coordinator of the City Engineering Department.

Pierson was asked by council members to appear at Tuesday's special meeting to discuss two questions which arose during the regular council session last week. Those questions involved the roofing problem at the police station and the city's projected cost of redesigning the overpass.

The city decided a month ago to reduce the size of the overpass since it would reduce the projected cost by approximately $2 million, leaving a total estimated cost of about $5 million for the construction.

While the city has commitments for nearly $5 million in funding, Mayor Paul Schuler told the aldermen that speed in designing and completing other procedure preliminary to the over pass construction is essential.

At one point during Tuesday night's discussion, Alderman Sam Whitmer asked if it might be possible to hold up on design work until the city receives its projected funding grants and therefore is certain the money is "in hand" for the building work. Schuler said that is not possible since several of the grants, including $1.4 million committed by the Federal Aid to Urban System and $1.7 million committed from the Illinois Commerce Commission's grade crossing safety fund, have time limits attached.

"Unless we get bids in April, there is a possibility we could lose some of that money," the mayor said. He noted that the city is "shooting for an April 27 bid date" on the construction contract.

"Unless we get bids and a contract by April 27, we are starting to go backward," Mayor Schuler added.

Pierson told the council that on the basis of a cost of $30,000 for the original design planning for the four-lane structure, "I would believe the cost of planning for the new structure should run about $15,000 to $17,000. It is my guess we can use about 20 percent of the planning already done, and from there on it is a whole new structure."

Since only seven of the 14 council members appeared at the special meeting, no voting action was taken. Those present agreed, however, the city engineers should proceed immediately with design work on the two-lane overpass, with final contract terms with the engineering firm to be worked out in later negotiations when all council members are present.

Concerning the police station roof, Pierson told the aldermen that he believed the present problem can be worked out by installing eight drain units in low places on the flat roof, arranged so that water can be drained sufficiently to satisfy bonding requirements. The additional cost would be about $1,200, he said.

This was in contrast to three alternative solutions presented the aldermen earlier. Those included suggested solutions costing $4,200, $8,800 and $15,000 alternative would be the most satisfactory.

"On every city building on which we have filed plans, we've had all kinds of trouble," he said. He noted that the $15,000 roofing plan would qualify the building for a 20-year bond by Johns Manville.

"Where would we get the money?" one alderman asked Whitmer.

"From wherever we always get it when there's something we want," Whitmer replied.

On a motion to approve the plan suggested by Pierson at an additional cost of $1,200, Whitmer voted "no," which killed the motion because only six "yes" votes were available.

It was indicated the proposal will be presented to the council in its Tuesday, Nov. 21 meeting.

Exits truck, hit by car

David Hoxsey, 29, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, was injured when he stepped from the cab of his tractor trailer in the 1500 block of Madison Avenue and was struck by the passing auto of Floyd Johnson Jr., 43, East St. Louis, at 2:55 p.m. Wednesday. Hoxsey reported he was attempting to enter the Granite City Steel loading area and accidentally passed the entrance. He stopped his truck and was about to back up when he noticed a car stopped behind the truck.

The truck driver said he got out of the cab of his truck to ask the motorist behind him to back up, but failed to see the Johnson's auto passing the truck.

Hoxsey was pulled by the car about 60 feet from the point of impact and the car skidded a total of 70 feet on the wet pavement, police said.

He was taken by Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was admitted with a cut to the top of head and multiple abrasions to his body.

Ann Johnson helps plan convention

"Your Touch with Reality" is the theme of the Illinois Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation annual convention being held in Chicago at the McCormick Inn. Ann Johnson, Parkview Elementary School, served as one of the convention program planners.

Miss Johnson's areas of responsibilities included sections for elementary physical education, adaptive and health education and the car skidded a total of 70 feet on the wet pavement, police said.

He was taken by Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was admitted with a cut to the top of head and multiple abrasions to his body.

Thanksgiving is club topic

Religious songs relating to the Thanksgiving season provided the theme of the monthly meeting of the Hilltoppers Club of St. John United Church of Christ.

The Rev. Sheldon Doyle opened the meeting with the pledge to the flag, and later presented a program on Thanksgiving.

Tentative plans were announced for a Christmas dinner and members agreed to send a donation to a needy family in lieu of a gift exchange.

After the business discussions, Miss Lucinda Black gave a slide presentation on her trip to Africa.

Mrs. Clara Harbig gave the closing prayer and the remainder of the afternoon was spent in playing games. Cake and coffee was also served.

Shot fired in robbery

Two armed robbers fired a shot through a glass into the office of the Spartan Gas Station on Highway 111, Pontoon Beach, to convince the attendant they were not kidding, and then made off with $250 in cash at 10:05 p.m. Wednesday.

Jan Easley, 18, cashier at the gas station, said the robber announced, "This is a holdup, give me your money." She replied "You've got to be kidding."

The robber then fired a shot into the office from a small black pistol, and was given the money by the attendant.

Pontoon Beach found a spent .25 caliber cartridge in the office.

The two men reportedly fled on foot.

The man with the gun was described as a white male, about 18 to 19 years old, long blond curly hair and about five foot nine or ten inches tall.

He was wearing a hunting cap, blue coat, blue jean type pants and had tattoos on the back of his hand.

The second man was described as a white male, wearing a brown coat and blue jeans.

Pontoon Beach police were alerted by a burglar alarm and were informed by radio as they were enroute to scene that a shot had been fired.

White and Gebhardt elected

A professor of chemistry at SIUE and project director of its continuing education program for chemistry teachers has been named president of the Illinois Association of Chemistry Teachers.

J. Edmund White of Alton, former chairman of the department of chemistry at SIUE, was installed in ceremonies at the association's annual meeting held in Normal. White completed a year as president-elect and previously served as vice-president of the association's southern region.

A second area science educator, Harold Gebhardt, chairman of the science department at Granite City High School North, was re-elected vice-president of the southern region.

The Illinois Association has a membership of 200 chemistry teachers at all academic levels, working to increase communication and information of technical advances in the field and to promote better teaching of chemistry.

White said the association will work during the year to expand its service to individual chemistry teachers and to improve the teaching of chemistry in Illinois.

As a first step, he will increase publication of the association newsletter and seek to make it more informative and useful to teachers. He will also emphasize safety in teaching laboratories, probably through programs or workshops, he said.

White is a graduate of Virginia Military Institute and received his doctoral degree from Indiana University. Since joining SIUE in 1969, he has worked to establish contact with area high school chemistry teachers and is currently director of "Continuing Education of Chemistry Teachers," a program supported by a grant from the National Science Foundation. He also is a past president of the education group within the St. Louis Section of the American Chemical Society.

Incentive program at McKinley

In an effort to increase student attendance, McKinley School has initiated an incentive awards program for attendance under the direction of Gary Pfroender, principal.

Students are recognized monthly for perfect attendance and receive an award.

During August-September, 147 students — 47 percent of the students enrolled — had perfect attendance. October showed that 80 percent of them still had perfect attendance since school started in late August.

Percentages of attendance for last year and this year follow:

August-September, 92.99 rising to 96.14 percent.
October, 93.72 improving to 93.87 percent.
Even though the increase is slight, Principal Pfroender feels any attendance rise will benefit students. The McKinley School motto is: "Good attendance encourages good learning."

Crash victim electrocuted

Mark A. Meade, 19, Staunton, an employee of Granite City Steel and a former resident of Granite City, was killed early Tuesday morning, apparently by electrocution, following an accident on Prairie Town Road about eight-tenths of a mile west of Illinois Route 4.

Macoupin County authorities said Mr. Meade apparently walked into several hanging power lines after his car ran off the roadway and struck a utility pole.

State police said the victim's car ran off the road on a curve, traveled about 600 feet and struck the pole.

The car continued about 17 feet past the damaged pole before coming to a stop. Officers said they believe Mr. Meade got out of the car and walked about 10 feet before coming in contact with the dangling wire. Mr. Meade was on his way home from work at the steel plant when the accident happened.

Macoupin County Deputy Coroner James T. Williams pronounced him dead at 5:45 a.m. Tuesday.

50-year

recommended the lengthy sentences because of the heinous nature of some of the assaults and because of Sprioff's history of sex offenses.

Sprioff pleaded guilty to the following charges:

Aggravated kidnapping, rape and two counts of deviate sexual assault against a 14-year-old Alton girl who was abducted from the Catholic Children's Home in Alton Aug. 8 and was taken to Sprioff's apartment where photos were taken of acts he forced her to perform.

Rape and three counts of deviate sexual assault against a Madison woman who awakened to find a man in her bedroom Aug. 12.

Deviate sexual assault against a McCambridge Avenue woman near Madison who also awoke to find a man in her home Aug. 23.

Rape and three counts of deviate sexual assault against another Madison woman in her home Sept. 7. She also was awakened by an intruder.

Rape, two counts of deviate sexual assault, armed robbery and burglary against a Granite City woman who returned home from work Sept. 13 to find someone had broken into her home. She was grabbed, assaulted and her stereo was stolen.

Byron cited the sentence as an example

On the basis of these figures, the Quad-City total assessed valuation for 1977 was $295,284,225. Of this amount, $86,351,520 was in personal property valuations, or 29.2 percent of the total.

Barion said that assessments for the 1978 tax year, which will include personal property values for the last time, are being of what can be achieved through "sound plea negotiating practices," noting, "There is no excuse for weak plea bargaining, but a good, tough plea bargained is no bargain for the defendant."

He commended the Granite City, Madison and Alton police departments, the Madison County Sheriff's Department, the Illinois Bureau of Scientific Services and the Illinois Division of Investigation for their aid in solving the case "with exceptional work and cooperation."

Sprioff is not related to the Kenneth Sprioff of Granite City who operates Sprioff Heating and Air Conditioning.

Byron rules shooting of Sidwell "justified"

Madison County State's Attorney Nicholas G. Byron this week ruled that the shooting of Jerry Sidwell, 29, of Granite City, by a Collinsville police officer Nov. 3 in Collinsville was justified and "in the line of duty."

Sidwell, who remains in satisfactory condition at Oliver C. Anderson Hospital in Maryville, was allegedly driving a stolen car when shot by Collinsville Patrolman Leonard Randant. Randant and a fellow officer alleged the car driven by Sidwell was attempting to run over Randant when two shots were fired, striking the driver's neck and chest.

Byron reviewed the case with his office's warrant officer, Joe Brown, and concluded Randant was completely justified in his actions. Sidwell was being sought by Granite City police on an attempted murder warrant in connection with a Sept. 23 shooting in this city.

Week's Thanksgiving vacation at university

Students will have a week's vacation from SIUE classes during the Thanksgiving holiday week of Nov. 20-25. University offices will remain open for regular hours of operation Nov. 20-22.

All classroom and office buildings on campus will be closed Thursday, Nov. 23, through Sunday, Nov. 25. Operating application forms, which require signatures of the applicant's precinct committeeman, township chairman and county chairman, will be scrapped and replaced with forms which do not ask about race, religious beliefs or political affiliation.

"There is no room in law enforcement for politics," Toffant said.

He plans to meet today with the sheriff's office Merit Commission to discuss hiring practices and discipline.

He also announced that when he takes office Dec. 4, both Chief Deputy Robert Rizzo and Lt. Richard Hertz, information officer and chief of detectives, will be assigned to other duties.

East Alton Police Chief Fred Bright will become Toffant's director of operations, overseeing the patrol division and detectives, and Edwin Knevezich of Godfrey, a former sheriff's deputy, will return to the department as director of administration, overseeing the office and jail employees.

Hertz, who was appointed chief of detectives when the former chief, Gary Lee Burns, resigned and pleaded guilty to a federal perjury charge last month, Burns was sentenced to serve six months in a jail-type institution and four and one-half years of probation after agreeing to testify against Sheriff John Maeras in his trial, which begins Dec. 11 in Alton.

Maeras and his chief of field operations, Capt. John Cooper, are under federal indictment for allegedly attempting to cover-up a scheme in which kick-backs were received from the operators of houses of prostitution, taverns, service stations and towing firms.

The federal investigation into the alleged kick-backs has resulted in testimony in federal court accusing several deputies of accepting funds and favors.

Toffant said one of his prime objectives in today's meeting with the Merit Commission will be to determine if the commission plans to investigate the allegations and initiate punishment against any deputies found guilty of accepting favors or kick-backs.

He also plans to meet with

U.S. Prosecutor Gerald Pines and State's Attorney Nicholas

G. Byron Nov. 5 in Edwardsville to discuss the ongoing federal probe and attempt to coordinate the federal and local investigations.

Toffant has not said what role he plans for Capt. Cooper, if he remains with the sheriff's department. He has said Cooper will not remain in a top job when Bright assumes control of operations.

Rizzo and Hertz have been quoted as saying they plan to remain with the sheriff's department under Toffant.

Hertz also told reporters he is particularly glad to be relieved of the task of public information officer.

Toffant says he plans to live within the rules of the Merit

Commission which prohibit officers from being dismissed for political reasons. However, Toffant said, every effort will be made to investigate allegations against several deputies made far in the federal probe, and those found guilty of wrongdoing will be punished or dismissed.

Higher salaries are board issue

"Before the Nov. 7 election, we heard the grumbles, and now that the election is over, it's time for the rumblings," Madison County Board Member Daniel Partney summarized as he discussed recent efforts by some county board members to increase their annual salaries from $5,500 to $6,600 a year.

Partney told the Press-Record Wednesday that someone has asked the Madison County state's attorney's office to give the board a legal opinion at the Nov. 22 meeting whether it is legal for the county board to increase the salaries of its members, or whether the increases can be voted only by those who were elected Nov. 7 and will take their seats on the board in December.

"I do not know who requested the opinion, but I was told today one may be presented at this month's meeting."

"I do know one thing: if a proposal to increase everyone's salary on the board is presented, there is going to be some objection and it should be fairly controversial," Partney said.

"I would be against it. I think $5,500 a year is more than enough. When I first presented the flat salary plan, I was pushing for about $4,000 a year," he added.

Oct. 18, the board voted for a flat salary of $5,500 a year, rather than the $40 per meeting attended, due to criticism that some members were abusing the per-diem, attending numerous meetings where little, if anything, was done.

"That was right before the election and was a popular thing to do then. However, many members were grumbling about the amount," Partney said.

"Now that the election is over, those who are dissatisfied with the salary will probably try to raise it. If they are going to raise it, it has to be done before the new board is seated in December. They have to make their move at the Nov. 22 board meeting."

"They think the voters have a short memory. Those just elected will not have to seek reelection for four years and the rest of us do not have to run for two years. They think the voters will forget by then," Partney added.

Board Member H. Jack Frønsden of Alhambra said he knows of no organized move to increase the salary, but

Pleads guilty to sex charge

Joseph Vincent Milazzo, 21, Wood River, pleaded guilty Tuesday to attempted rape, armed violence, deviate sexual assault and burglary in conjunction with two assault cases in Wood River and a sentence of 22 years is being recommended.

Madison County State's Attorney Nicholas G. Byron said he negotiated the guilty plea in return for the sentence recommendation. He cited exceptional work by the Wood River police in solving the assault cases.

Milazzo pleaded guilty to the attempted rape of a Wood River woman in May 1978, and to the other three charges in conjunction with an incident involving another Wood River woman July 24.

Sentencing will be in about 30 days, Byron said.

Burglarize home of GC policeman

A burglar stole three revolvers, $210 cash and a gold pocket watch from the home of Granite City Police Lieutenant Albert Diak between 7 and 9:05 p.m. Wednesday.

Diak, who resides in the 3100 block of Jill Avenue, said he returned home to find the rear door open and several rooms ransacked. He searched the house and then the outside and reported seeing someone walking north along the Nameoki Drainage Ditch, but was unable to catch him.

A hole had been cut in the glass in a door, possibly with a glass cutter, to gain entry to the house.

Harvey Thresher, 69, dies

Harvey H. Thresher, 69, of 2612 W. 26th St., a retired farmer, died at 1 a.m. Wednesday at St. Elizabeth Hospital. He had been ill eight years.

He was born in Denmark, Ark., and resided in Bell, Mo., prior to moving to Granite City three years ago.

Mr. Thresher was a self-employed farmer until he retired in 1969.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Victoria (Franklin) Thresher; three sons, Harvey H., Hershel W. and Bill C. Thresher, all of Granite City; one brother, M. C. Thresher of Redding, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. Clyde (Elvie) Fritz, Bald Knob, Ark.; three grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Seek settlement of rail spur easement problem

An easement question between Caine Steel and Southwest Steel, both located in the Maerans Industrial Park in Madison, was referred Tuesday night by the Madison City Council to the legal department without problems.

The question involves the building of a railroad spur which will cross some of the property leased to Caine Steel and connect with Southwest Steel.

No major problem is expected, according to Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk. It was explained Caine Steel wants to make sure that when the spur is built there will be no hampering of Caine Steel operations and their trucks will be able to get in and out of the industrial park without problems.

A statistical report on major crimes submitted by Chief of Police Donald L. Bridick showed a 16-2-3 percent decrease in the crime rate in September 1978 below that of September 1977.

With the October 1977 figures shown first and October 1978 figures following, the monthly crime comparison reported is as follows:

Criminal homicide 0-0, forcible rapes 1-0, decreased one; robbery 2-0, down two; assault and battery 4-6, up two; burglary 12-11, down one; theft 12-13, up one; and auto theft, 5-0.

The professional services contract, in the amount of $17,400 between the city and General Design, Inc., of Greenville, was given final approval. The money will come from a Community Development grant to build a mini-shopping center in Madison.

Nameoki Township offered the city $2,000 for fire hydrant rental charges in the Cloverleaf and East Madison areas. There was a question in the water company contract and the matter was tabled and turned over to the legal department and the aldermanic committee governing the fire department and related areas.

The yearly contract for street maintenance from motor fuel tax funds in the amount of $45,000 was approved.

In other action, the board finalized the village's application to the county's Community Development office, seeking $48,889 in funds for construction of a community building. The proposed location has not been disclosed, but board members indicated an option on the land is pending.

The village's Community Development citizens' advisory committee has been active in developing plans for construction and financing of the community center.

GC sewage plant efficient now, EPA to be told

Granite City officials expect to inform Illinois Environmental Protection Agency officials this afternoon that equipment and operations problems at the city's secondary sewage treatment plant have been resolved and that the effluent from the plant no longer violates water pollution standards.

Such testimony was to be offered at a hearing that was to convene at the City Council chambers at the city hall at 1 p.m. in the city's defense against EPA charges that on a number of occasions over the past year, effluent discharged into the Mississippi River on the treatment plant from the Granite City Army Installation grounds were in excess of water quality requirements.

"National health insurance is not necessary, nor is it inevitable, and the ISMS is opposed to it."

Despite statements to the contrary, most Americans are covered by some type of health insurance. What we need is more catastrophic coverage for really major medical problems when they arise," he said.

He began his one-year term as president of ISMS in April 1978.

Dr. George T. Wilkins Jr. of Granite City is the immediate past president of the ISMS.

Cut in hospital costs sought by Illinois Medical Society

By MICK STRANGE
Press-Record Staff Writer

Hospital and health care costs have been rising at 15.5 percent per year, but in a private voluntary effort by hospitals and physicians during the first seven months of 1978, health care costs have risen only 13 percent, according to Dr. David Fox, president of the 13,500-member Illinois State Medical Society (ISMS).

The American Medical Association, American Hospital Association and Federation of American Hospitals have launched a joint endeavor to reduce the increase in hospital expenditures by two percent during 1978 and 1979.

"We are looking for voluntary physicians' cooperation, along with the hospital and medical staff elements in cutting cost and establishing a responsible rate," Dr. Fox said.

"Pluralistic health care delivery systems are not terribly popular. The government sees things too much from a cost basis in the combined health care systems. The ISMS is concerned that there be no reduction in cost at the expense of quality care," Dr. Fox said.

"The per capita cost of health care for the United States is about $735. The federal government has been taking care of the health care of the American Indians at a cost of $2,000."

"In almost every subject discussed in reference to medical care, the underlying thing is cost; it's never quality of care by the medical profession," Fox emphasized.

"People talk about socialized medicine in Sweden. The only people living better from a health standpoint than the Swedes in Sweden, are the Swedes in Minnesota who are living under our medical system."

"Swedes go to their physicians half as often as in this country and there is a 25 percent unmet medical need in Sweden. Swedish doctors work a 40-hour week, while our doctors put in more than 52 hours a week."

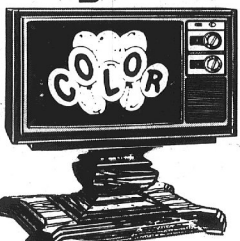

"The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Maurice Hemphill."

Wolf tops Lucco 1,073 1/2

Sam W. Wolf of Granite City defeated State Rep. Joe Lucco of Edwardsville by a total of 1,073 1/2 votes in the 56th District legislative race in the Nov. 7 election, according to official returns of the vote canvasses in Madison and St. Clair Counties.

The official returns show that State Rep. Everett Steele (R) topped the ballot in the state representative race, polling 38,646 votes in Madison County and 1,573 1/2 in the 14 Canteen Township precincts of St. Clair County that also are in the 56th District. This gave Steele a districtwide vote of 40,219 1/2.

Jim McPike, Alton Democrat, took the third seat with a Madison County vote of 24,521 1/2 and a St. Clair County vote of 2,190 for a total of 26,711 1/2. Lucco, a Democrat who ran in the representative race as an independent candidate, received 22,078 votes in Madison County and 3,560 in St. Clair for a total vote of 25,638.

The official canvass in Madison County, completed Tuesday by the County Canvassing Board, showed no surprises and no major changes from the unofficial vote announced earlier.

Final Madison County results announced by the canvassing board were:

News notes

Many are observing a no-smoking day today as part of an anti-cigarette drive by the American Cancer Society.

Legislation co-sponsored by Rep. Joe E. Lucco on Tuesday would allocate additional state school financial aid by boosting the per-pupil assistance standard from $1,293 to $1,310.

Lucco said this would boost yearly Granite City School District aid $210,000, from $9,782,000 to $9,992,000. On that matter, his failure to gain re-election by a margin of over 1,000 votes, he said a recount may be sought in some Edwardsville, Granite City and Madison precincts.

The Council of Contractor associations said this week the labor pool in this metropolitan area is sufficient to build a new lock and dam two miles downstream from Alton. The project has been approved but is delayed by a suit.

A committee studying possible Highway District Eight headquarters sites will continue its review Nov. 21.

Illinois lawmakers began their fall session with a three-hour meeting Tuesday and then left to return at 1 p.m. Nov. 27 to debate substance issues as taxation, prison improvements and legislative vetoes. It is estimated that Tuesday's food and travel expenses totaled $15,000.

The Illinois Commerce Commission tentatively has rejected a 5.25 percent rate hike sought by Illinois Bell Telephone Co., sources indicated today. The final order is expected to be acted upon by the ICC commissioners Nov. 21.

One change approved was a 20-cent charge for each call to directory assistance after eight free calls a month, but the commission will require the company to give a 25-cent-per-month credit to residential and most business customers to return the savings to the consumers.

Basic rates for local calls, direct-dialed long-distance calls, fees for ordering and connecting phone services and other fees are unchanged, sources indicated. Illinois Bell had sought a $110 million hike.

A wildcat strike which has halted the Bi-State Transit System went into its third day today as commuters throughout the metropolitan region once again scrambled to find transportation to work.

A restraining order issued in St. Louis Circuit Court Tuesday has had no effect on ending the strike, thus far, as difficulties in serving copies of the order have been encountered.

Local 788 of the Amalgamated Transit Workers is urging the drivers and mechanics to return to work, in compliance with the court order.

Delay implementing minimum mail size

Implementation of new minimum-size mail standards will take place next March or April, the U.S. Postal Service has announced.

The same effective date will be used to implement a surcharge for oversized mail — a matter now pending before the Postal Rate Commission.

The Postal Service's Board of Governors established the timetable for the common implementation date at its regular monthly meeting last week in Washington. The Postal Service previously had stated that the minimum-size standard would become effective "not before Nov. 30, 1978."

The board decided, at the recommendation of the Postmaster General William F. Bolger, to defer the minimum-size standards to avoid any unnecessary complication during the Christmas mailing season and to allow major mailers a final opportunity to prepare for the change.

Rather than have separate implementation dates occurring around the same time for the minimum-size standards and the oversize surcharge, the board decided to consolidate the actions.

Currently, the independent Postal Rate Commission is considering the Postal Service's proposal for a 13-cent surcharge and has until Feb. 25 to act on it. The Board of Governors would consider setting the specific implementation date at its March meeting.

The commission approved the minimum-size criteria and the principle of a surcharge for oversized or nonstandard mail pieces in April, 1976. The Postal Service announced its intention to put them into effect in 1978 in order to permit customers to use up existing supplies and prepare new inventories.

The minimum-size standards, which apply to all classes of mail, establish that envelopes and cards measuring less than 3 1/2 inches high or 5 inches long and certain other items that can jam machinery and damage other mail, will not be accepted. Also, the new requirements call for a thickness of at least .007 of an inch. Postal cards have a thickness of .009 of an inch.

The new standards for oversized or nonstandard mail allow that mail to be accepted, but to be subject to the surcharge under consideration by the Postal Rate Commission. In discussing the decision to put the implementation date off until early 1979, Bolger noted there have been a number of appeals for extensions of the minimum-size standards from utility companies in order for them to have more time to change their billing systems to a format which produces bills of a mailable size.

He said deferral of the effective date would provide "one final warning."

6 hurt in crash

Six persons were injured in a three-car accident in the 2900 block of Madison Avenue at 8:05 a.m. Tuesday.

Witnesses told police the northbound car of Ronald Inman, 23, of 203 Sunny Shores Mobile Home Park, collided head-on with the oncoming car of Allen Jesso, 40, of 2654 Westmoreland Drive.

The northbound car of Pamela Murphy, 19, St. Louis, was unable to avoid striking the two cars which had just collided and struck Inman's auto, it was reported.

Inman was charged with driving while under the influence of liquor or drugs and with passing in a no-passing zone.

The injured were taken by Granite City ambulances and police to St. Elizabeth Hospital where all were released after treatment. Jesso suffered a bump to his head and Miss Murphy suffered pain to her neck, chin and jaw.

Inman was treated for an abrasion to his left elbow and pain to his chest and stomach. Two passengers in his car also were hurt. Margie Inman, 20, bumped her head and suffered an abrasion to her left lower leg, and Catherine Biggs, 26, of 1327 Fifth St., Madison, bumped her forehead and injured her back.

Billy Parker, 22, of Rural Route Two, Box 791, Granite City, a passenger in Miss Murphy's car, also went by ambulance to the Hospital, but did not seek treatment.

University police are reorganized

Reorganization of the police department of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has been announced by Thomas L. Leffler, acting chief.

He said the changes, effective this week, are "designed to distribute workload and responsibilities and to specify and clarify division and section duties."

New assignments include the appointments of shift commanders and two field supervisors for each of three shifts. In addition, five to seven officers are assigned to each shift, with senior officers designated for the Alton and East St. Louis campuses.

The department also has administrative services and investigative divisions, the latter including two detectives who work on investigations and handle court liaison, as well as coordinate matters concerning juveniles, internal affairs and civil defense.

Personnel in the administrative services division include a coordinating officer, radio dispatchers, secretaries and student ticket writers. The division also is responsible for community relations, records and reports.

Leffler said the officers assigned as shift commanders are: Gary Gunter, shift one, 7 a.m. to 3 p.m.; Robert Prossie, shift two, 3 p.m. to 11 p.m.; and Harold Schneider, shift three, 11 p.m. to 7 a.m.

The officers who have been named field supervisors are: Henry Certe, William Naeve, Kenneth Scherer, Gerry Clinger and George Johnson. Rupert Carpunky is the senior officer in charge of police at the East St. Louis center, and David Johnson is the senior officer at Alton.

Detective Edward Williams heads up the investigations division, and Officer Charles T. Heinz is in charge of the administrative services section.

Leffler said he believes the reorganization will improve operations and efficiency of each shift within the department.

He added that the new arrangement also is intended to improve intra-departmental working relationships and enhance the consistency and effectiveness of supervision.

"Our use and distribution of manpower should be more efficient," Leffler said, "and individual officer performance, efficiency and morale should be improved."

He added that the department emphasizes professionalism in police work. All candidates for officer positions must have successfully completed the Police Academy training program at the University of Illinois. Commissioned officers also attend in-service training courses offered throughout the nation on subjects ranging from criminal investigation to police community relations.

The SIUE police department currently employs 28 officers and 10 support personnel.

Madison man apparently shot

Joseph Hubbard, 49, of 1327a Madison Ave., was reported in satisfactory condition at Fernin Desloge Hospital Wednesday, recuperating from a possible shotgun wound.

He was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital at 10:05 p.m. Monday and then transferred to St. Louis where he first was listed as critical.

Madison police were called to 1327 Madison Ave. at 9:52 p.m. Monday and said they found

Hubbard lying on the ground, a victim of an apparent shooting, with a wound to the right side of his head, according to police. Police said he told them he "fell on a fan."

Police investigating the incident said they believe he was wounded with a shotgun.

A motive has not been established, although Madison authorities said the victim's car is missing.

No weapon has been found, according to police.

Old toothpaste lacks decay-fighting punch

In the first comprehensive study of its kind, researchers at the University of Illinois at the Medical Center, Chicago, have determined that the longer a tube of toothpaste remains on the shelf, the more fluoride the toothpaste loses.

Fluoride is added to toothpaste to strengthen tooth enamel and decrease the accumulation of plaque. Plaque is an acquired gel-like mat which adheres to a tooth. It consists of bacterial colonies and their products, some organic and inorganic compounds from oral secretions and shed epithelial and blood cells.

Although dental scientists have been aware that toothpastes lose fluoride over a period of time, data up to this point has been scanty and incomplete. The University of Illinois College of Dentistry study involved several leading brands of toothpaste, including Crest, which contains stannous fluoride, and Colgate, which has a compound known as monofluorophosphate or MFP.

Both Colgate and Crest have been fully accredited by the American Dental Association (ADA).

Others' toothpastes tested in the Medical Center Campus study were Aim with stannous fluoride and Maclean's with MFP. Aim has provisional ADA approval as being effective and is expected to receive complete accreditation soon, following further field testing.

Of the four brands, Aim was found to have the least amount of fluoride loss over a period of 28 months or more. It was the most stable, losing only 3.59 percent in a 6-12-month period and 14.5 percent after a shelf life of 28 months or more.

Maclean's fluoride loss was the largest of the four brands with 27.8 percent for six months and more than 63 percent for 28 months. The loss range for Crest was 14.5 percent during the six-month period and 50 percent for 28 months or more.

For Colgate, the fluoride loss range was 10.99 percent to 22.29 percent. The age of toothpaste purchased in stores within the Chicago area varies. The oldest sample bought in the city was 14 or 15 months old.

Although toothpaste is under its jurisdiction, the Federal Food and Drug Administration does not presently require toothpaste manufacturers to put an expiration date on their products.

Researchers tested a toothpaste sample for fluoride loss by diluting the sample with double deionized water, spinning the combination and then running the substance through a fluoride ion meter.

In a just-completed second phase of the study, synthetic saliva was substituted for the deionized water, and the result showed an even greater loss of fluoride availability among all four brands.

Maclean's fluoride loss with the saliva was as high as 82.86 percent. For Crest, the 28-month loss was 78.15 percent; for Colgate, 27.09 percent; and for Aim, 18.19 percent.

According to Dr. Indru Punwani, one of the reasons Aim's fluoride loss was lowest may be due to the product's silica-xerogel abrasive agent.

"Toothpaste contains a flavoring agent, a fluoride agent and an abrasive agent for cleaning teeth," Dr. Punwani explained. "Fluoride is unstable and highly reactive. In other words, it breaks down easily and can combine with other substances contained in the formulation."

"But, the silica-xerogel abrasive agent in Aim doesn't seem to bind up the fluoride as readily as other substances do; subsequently, there's more fluoride available to consumer in the toothpaste tube."

Because of fluoride's instability, researchers at the University of Illinois College of Dentistry also suggest that temperature and humidity can affect the fluoride in toothpaste.

A study to be conducted third phase of the toothpaste study will examine the effects of temperature and other climatic factors.

What exactly the results of the toothpaste study mean to consumers is uncertain. According to Dr. Punwani, the research "raises more questions than it answers."

"It is important that dental professionals, the government and consumers know that the toothpaste may have been altered as a result of age, temperature and other conditions. On the other hand, no studies have been done to indicate how much fluoride is needed to make toothpaste effective," he said.

Despite the laboratory findings showing loss of fluoride availability to toothpaste consumers, the Council on Dental Therapeutics of the ADA accepts those fluoride dentures that are therapeutically beneficial for the prevention of tooth decay on the basis of clinical research studies.

Flour—it can be too fresh

"Fresh stone ground flour" few things sound quite as natural and wholesome.

However, did you know that freshly milled flour will not produce a quality bread without maturing and bleaching agents added, or without being aged for several months?

Freshly-milled flour produces baked products (breads and cakes) of poor volume, coarse grain, and yellow color. It lacks the qualities necessary to make an elastic, stable dough.

Small quantities of natural pigments cause the yellowish color in fresh flour. Flour stored and allowed to age for several months will whiten and give improved baking qualities.

Bread was made for centuries from the naturally bleached and aged flour, but natural processing is slow. And natural processing raises the price to consumers through charges for long storage and protection from insect and rodent infestation.

In the late 1800s, bakers found that a special process using chlorine, a strong oxidizer, speeds the process. Today, flour is commercially treated by this method. The chlorine does not affect the nutrient qualities of bread.

Bleaching of flour was a side effect that came to be associated with bakery bread and then with status. Today, with that association undergoing a reversal as the United States goes "back to nature," homemade bread is rising in status.

Remember that before you use freshly-milled flour in your favorite bread recipe, be sure it has been properly aged. Or, use a flour that has been treated commercially with maturing and bleaching agents.

DIVER OF THE YEAR for 1978 Phil Lamm, left, receives a clock plaque from Dee Adams, Bubblemasters president, at the club's annual awards banquet and dance at the VFW Hall during the weekend. The highest honor bestowed by the club, the award signifies "outstanding contributions made to diving over a period of years." Lamm, a certified member of the Professional Association of Diving Instructors, has trained hundreds of area scuba divers.

Phil Lamm named 'Diver of Year'

By VAL EVDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer
Phil Lamm was named "Diver of the Year" for 1978, the top award bestowed by the Bubblemasters Scuba Diving Club of Granite City, at the group's annual awards banquet and dance held during the weekend at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall, 2044 Washington Ave.

More than 120 members and guests attended the 19th annual affair, including divers from the St. Louis Scuba Club, Lang Rangers of St. Louis County and the Kansas City Frogmen and Fin and Feather Clubs, both from the Kansas City, Mo. area.

In balloting prior to the banquet, Larry Earney was elected Bubblemasters president, succeeding Dee Adams. Adams will relinquish the office in January.

Earney also was presented the "Spearman of the Year Award" for 1978.

The large trophy signifies the most points accumulated by a diver in competitive spearfishing events at sanctioned diving meets from May through September.

The award recipient was defending champion, having captured the same honor in 1977.

Lamm was congratulated by fellow club members and also by Dr. Jack Sherbo of the Kansas City Frogmen, president-elect of the Midwest Dive Council, and Don Coulson of Kansas City, retiring MDC president.

The "Diver of the Year Award" is presented each year to a Bubblemaster diver who has displayed "outstanding and consistent contributions to the sport of diving and activities of the club," Adams said, in announcing the award winner's name.

Lamm, a long-time member of the local diving club, has served as diving instructor for the past six years.

"In this role, Phil has trained hundreds of men, women and younger people to enjoy the sport of diving safely and with confidence," the club president stated.

Lamm is a certified member of the Professional Association of Diving Instructors.

He is vice president of training for the Midwest Dive Council and has served as president and vice president of the Bubblemasters Club, training officer and in other roles.

He is a member of the Bubblemasters Underwater Recovery Team (B.U.T.), a group of local divers who volunteer their services to area law enforcement departments.

Adams also works as an affiliated segment of the Granite City Civil Defense.

Runners-up in the "Spearman of the Year" contest were Randy Viessman, second, and Phil Lamm, third.

Two Bubblemaster divers set national and Midwest Dive Council catch records in 1978, it was announced.

Certified by the Underwater Society of America and MDC as breaking previous catch records in spearfishing were: Barbara Gates for a four pound, 11 ounce goldfish; and Kelly Ervin for a four pound, two ounce redhorse.

Vicki Horton was the recipient of the first women's traveling trophy for spearing the largest fish in 1978.

Bill Horton copped four trophies, two of which he earned for first place entries in underwater photography in the Nature Study and Environmental categories.

Horton also received the traveling trophy for top points in the Labor Day diving meet and the Memorial Day dive trophy for top achievement on that weekend.

Trophies for spearing the largest fish in a specific month were awarded to: Wally Marzful, May; Larry Earney, June; Jerry Davis, July; Randy Viessman, August; and Bill Horton, September.

Paul Foster, a first year diver, earned the "Novice Spearfisherman" award for accumulating the highest number of points during the season.

Elected to serve with Earney in 1979, were: Glen Gates, vice president; Vicki Horton, treasurer; and Barb Gates, secretary.

Adams, who is completing his second term as diving club president, was presented a plaque of appreciation.

Also retiring from office after serving as treasurer for several years was Ron Ruppel, who was honored with a plaque.

In charge of arrangements for the 19th annual event was Mrs. Sharon Earney.

The Bubblemasters' new president serves as club air-master and is a director of the Midwest Dive Council.

Randy Viessman is a divermaster and Glen Gates is official delegate to the diving council.

In a brief talk to the group, Dr. Sherbo commended the local divers for their promotion of scuba and skin diving and a "dedicated program of activities."

The MDC president-elect accorded high praise to the Bubblemasters, noting the group is now the most active club in the entire conference that consists of diving clubs from Illinois, Missouri, Kansas and Arkansas.

After the banquet and awards program, those attending spent the remainder of the evening dancing to the music of the "All Occasions."

Santa's Workshop to open Dec. 1

By DONNA HARTWICK
Press-Record Staff Writer
Santa Claus is coming to visit Granite City and will open the Christmas season at a workshop located at 2100 Edison Ave. He will receive area youngsters at his shop from Friday, Dec. 1, to Saturday, Dec. 23, at various hours.

Santa's shop will be open Monday through Friday from 4:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. daily, from 6:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. on Saturday, and 12 noon to 5 p.m. Sunday.

The festive shop decorated with Christmas trees adorned with handmade ornaments, gaily packaged gifts, toys, stuffed animals and handmade craft items for sale, is located in the former nursery convent.

Admission to visit and talk with Santa and tour the replica of the North Pole home of St. Nick will be $1 per child and no fee for an accompanying adult.

Cost of an admission ticket entitles a child to view a film entitled, "Mouse in the Manger," then visit Mrs. Claus in her kitchen, filled with the aroma of home baked goods, where they will receive a Christmas cookie.

The tour continues from the kitchen to a small chapel featuring a nativity scene set up with special lighting effects, then to the main room where Santa waits in a big red rocking chair to hear the requests of the young guests. Here they will be given an opportunity to select a souvenir gift from the tree to keep as a memento of the visit.

For those who wish to have a picture taken with Santa Claus, a professional photographer will be present. For an additional fee, he will take a color photograph, enclose it in a folder and mail it to the patron.

Santa's elves, dressed in bright green costumes, will scurry about to help the young visitors along the "yellow brick path" leading to the movie, the kitchen, chapel and to Santa.

The fund-raising project is sponsored by the Religious Education Organization of St. Joseph Church as a parish community service by the young people of the church.

Mrs. Bert Bulmann is serving as coordinator of the event with the assistance of other women of the church.

Teenagers wearing yuletide attire will staff the holiday house with the aid of adult hostesses for the four-week program.

Another highlight of the project is a room set aside for a display of handmade craft articles to be offered for sale, including gifts for Christmas, birthdays and other affairs.

Entry is to be at the front door on Edison avenue and tourists will depart from a side door leading to the parking area.

On leaving the house, a newly created life-size manger scene will be on exhibit at the rear of the rectory garage, facing Edison avenue, as an added attraction to the yuletide project.

Italian-American Club sets party

The Italian-American Club finalized plans for a Christmas party at a meeting Sunday afternoon held in the Venice Social Club.

The party will be held on Dec. 10 at the Venice Social Club for the children of members to begin at 2 p.m. Gino Whaley was appointed to serve as chairman and provide gifts for the youngsters.

President Nick Petrillo announced a congratulatory notice was sent to the South High School soccer team on winning the state championship.

After other business discussions the members adjourned for refreshments.

Rash of car lootings

Granite City police are taking extra steps to watch for suspicious activities around parked cars, particularly in apartment complexes, due to a recent rash of incidents in which trunk locks of vehicles have been damaged and items in the car trunks stolen.

Four such cases were reported Tuesday. Most victims noted holes had been punched in the trunk just below the lock and the lock had then been tampered with until the trunk opened.

At 12:30 p.m. Tuesday, Judy Ashley, 2613 Lynch Ave., reported her car's trunk was broken into, but she did not believe anything was stolen.

At 9 p.m. Tuesday, Virginia Bozarth, 4000 Sara St., Apt. 134, told police a CB radio was taken from her trunk during the weekend while her car was parked near her apartment.

At 4:40 p.m. Tuesday, George Nishke, 4062 Sara St., Apt. 104, discovered his car, parked in the carport section of the apartment complex, was looted with the trunk lock damaged. A $50 set of golf clubs and the spare tire and wheel were removed from the trunk.

Ten minutes later, officers were told that the auto of the Nicks family of 4062 Harvey Place, Apt. 97, was broken into by the same means and the spare tire and rim were stolen.

The police blotter in the last two weeks has shown more than a dozen cases in which trunk locks have been tampered with an item taken from the trunks.

"We had a rash of punched trunk locks last year and solved it with several arrests. The cases ceased at once. Now, someone else is starting it. I am confident that we will be able to catch these thieves also, if we have the cooperation of citizens who will call us if they see anything suspicious near vehicles," a police spokesman said.

Woman charged

Clara F. Hill, 38, of 1357 Edwardsville Road, was charged with aggravated assault and contributing to the delinquency of a minor after an incident in front of her home at 1:20 p.m. Tuesday.

A police officer reported Linda Parker, Collinsville, and two women friends with her reported there had been a disagreement and they were afraid to pass Mrs. Hill's home, for fear of violence.

The officer agreed to follow Linda Parker's auto past the home and when her car approached that address, Mrs. Hill and two boys, ages 15 and 16, allegedly approached the car waving wooden sticks.

The three were taken into custody by the officer. The officer alleged the 15-year-old boy was a runaway who had been staying at the Mrs. Hill's home.

Mrs. Hill was released on a notice to appear in court Dec. 5. The 16-year-old boy was released on a notice to appear before juvenile authorities on a charge of assault. The 15-year-old was released without being charged.

The bench grinders sold through Kmart were labeled "K mart" Model 30-09T1 and show the date codes: none (if bought after June of 1973), 7B, 7D, 7E, and 7F. Xi Epsilon Chi hears plant topic

Barbara Haddock and Zella Sciglak of Monrache II discussed the care of house plants during the winter months at a meeting Monday evening of Xi Epsilon Chi Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority.

The group met in the home of Barbara Hente, 3708 Yoyce Ave., with Helen Hall, president, in charge. The guest speakers reviewed various aspects of plant care. They were introduced by Linda Koenig, program chairman.

Mrs. Hall conducted a "ritual of the jewels" ceremony for Sharon Case, signifying her progression within the sorority. She also announced chapter member Judy Havens was attending her final meeting, as Mrs. Havens is leaving this week to make her home in Newport News, Va.

Christmas greeting cards being sold by the group were distributed, and Joan Pritchard explained changes in arrangements for a holiday party.

The hostess said funds for the sorority's City Council ways and means project should be returned to her before Nov. 27. It was announced by Candy Thompson that chapter members will ring the Salvation Army bells at a sidewalk kettle on Dec. 2.

A final accounting of a recent jewelry party was given by Marilyn Lumpkins, who said the event proved "very successful."

Barbara Jones reported a special event concerning household products will be staged at the next meeting. Also attending the business session were Carol Cathey, Phyllis Kudelka, Carolyn Walsh and Vicki Thomas.

CWU to publish newsletter

Broadening areas of contribution and starting a newsletter were among the topics discussed Tuesday evening at Church Women United's executive board session at Namooks United Presbyterian Church.

Marion Pierson, CWU president, conducted the business meeting, and a financial report was given by Nan Henderson, treasurer.

Several ways the local Church Women's group could expand its contributions to both national programs and community projects were explored and it was decided to present such a proposal at the CWU general meeting.

Marie Gordon, nominating committee chairman, reported a slate of new officers has been chosen to be presented to the membership for approval at a later date.

Marilyn Aerne, Ruth Todd and Margie Ponnell will form the new nominating committee, Mrs. Gordon said.

Publication of a newsletter was proposed and it was agreed to compile and mail a bulletin type report to members three times each year.

Sharon Engleke was named chairman of the newsletter project, which will be a joint effort by board members.

A luncheon for representatives of all Quad-City churches will take place in February, and a general assembly meeting for the CWU was scheduled for Jan. 9.

Also present at the session were Bea Rittenhouse, Dolores Allen, Dorothea Rivenburg, Pat McAmish, Ellen Wilson, Nona Cornelius and Delores Voegler.

Mrs. Peggy Dillard, Title I reading teacher, at Webster School and chairman of the PTA project, will coordinate the parent volunteers who are responsible for taking the book selections to the children.

Friday's "choose a book day" coincides with Children's National Book Week, being observed Nov. 13 to Nov. 19.

GRANITE CITY READING PROGRAM is explained at a conference for gifted students. From left, Margaret Mulach, Nameoki school teacher; Don Koop, principal at Nameoki school, and Martha Gianakos, Nameoki school teacher.

GC school teams attend state gifted conference

Two teams from the Granite City School District were selected to make presentations at the Illinois State Gifted Conference held in Mount Vernon, Ill.

To be included in this State program was a distinctive honor to the individuals chosen and to local gifted program, according to a school spokesman.

Those present were: Don Koop, principal, Nameoki School; Marge Mulach and Martha Gianakos, Nameoki school teachers.

Their topic dealt with how the Granite City reading program is designed to provide the gifted student with an opportunity to develop critical and creative thinking skills through an independent reading program.

In addition, Alfred J. Wilson, principal of Emerson School, Constance Steffen and Victor Popovsky, both Emerson school teachers, made a presentation in explanation of how the newspaper is used to stimulate higher level thought processes with gifted students.

The reaction to these presentations were very complimentary. Nearly 1,000 persons were in attendance at this conference.

Saturday is YMCA ballet day this fall

A new series of ballet is starting at the Tri-City Area YMCA this Saturday, Nov. 18.

A class for youngsters six years and older will be conducted from 2 to 3 p.m. for eight consecutive Saturdays.

Instructor Karen Stawar also will teach an adult ballet class on Saturdays from 3 to 4 p.m.

Cost of the eight-hour lesson is $12 for YMCA members and $16 for non-members. A minimum amount of students is necessary to conduct each class.

Pre-registration is being made by calling 676-7200.

Charged with theft

Henry Henderson, 37, of 1022 College St., Venice, was arrested during the weekend and was charged with theft after police alleged finding Tratlter's Store price tags on four pairs of trousers he was wearing in Hill Brothers Shoe Store, 3001 Madison Ave.

Officers were told there was a suspicious man inside the shoe store and when they checked, they allegedly found he was wearing four pairs of trousers with price tags on them.

The manager of Tratlter's was contacted and said he recalled the man being in the store, but alleged he did not purchase anything.

VANDALISM AT SCHOOL

During a gym class Monday at Nameoki School, 1620 Pontoon Road, a window in the upper level of the gymnasium broke and glass fell. Officials discovered vandals had removed the puddy from around the window, which then fell in the wind. There were no injuries.

Marijuana arrests

A 16-year-old boy was arrested in the alley between the 2900 blocks of Grand and Madison avenues Monday as police continued their crack-down on marijuana smoking in the vicinity of Granite City High School South.

Officers reported they searched two youths and found two marijuana cigarettes and a small bag of marijuana in one's shirt pocket. He was arrested and the other boy was sent to school. The youth who was arrested was released to relatives on a notice to appear before juvenile authorities.

Police disclosed another 16-year-old was arrested late last week by Granite City High School South monitors after the boy caused a disturbance in a class. A small amount of marijuana allegedly was found in his possession and he was turned over to Granite City police, who charged him and released him on a notice to appear.

3-vehicle collision hurts four

Four persons were injured in a three-vehicle accident at 20th Street and Edwardsville Road at 2:55 p.m. Tuesday.

Police were told that the van of Henry Turner, 37, of East St. Louis, was stopped on Edwardsville Road for a red light when the accident occurred. Turner was driving a 1974 Ford van.

Turner fell to the floorboard and his van crossed the intersection and struck the stopped car of Nedwin Tapp Jr., 25, of 2708 Lincoln Ave. Scales was charged with reckless driving. He was taken by Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was admitted with a broken right ankle, an abrasion to his right knee and pain to his neck. Turner suffered a strained back and was taken by ambulance to the hospital where he was released after X-rays were taken.

Tapp suffered a bump to his head and pain to his left elbow and was taken by officers to the hospital where he was X-rayed and released.

His wife, Mrs. Mary Tapp, 27, of the same address, suffered only minor injuries and was released after examination.

Beware of winter harm to lawn turf

By WAYNE B. SIEPERT Area Adviser, Horticulture Tall grass mixed with leaves can produce dead spots in your lawn when late fall growth is neglected.

Warm weather and fall fertilizing is the right combination to produce a thicker turf. But keeping it cut will prevent leaves from smothering small spots and will prevent denizens from attracting snow mold disease.

Take a few minutes to stroll around your property and see how your grass is doing.

If leaves are beginning to collect or your grass is making an unexpected sport of growth, now is the time for one more cut.

An attractive appearance all winter and extra quality next spring will be worth the effort.

Romans 12:19 "... Vengeance is mine; I will repay, saith the Lord."

I believe, in all of the history of mankind, this generation will be known as the "get even" generation. It seems that no one possesses enough of the spirit of longuffering; that is the ability not to render evil for evil.

Many merchants today will not prosecute shoplifters for fear of reprisals. Sporting events in some schools turn into riots because losing fans want revenge. Educators hesitate to use discipline in punishing measures because of parental hostility.

All areas of society are being affected. All our lives will be touched one way or another. It will not help to throw up our hands and say, "A hopeless situation." It will help to lift our hands and our prayers to God!

Ask first — for yourself — a spirit of longuffering, and then for others.

See God work a miracle. Today.

Each year, more than 8,000 Americans receive emergency treatment for injuries associated with furnaces.

Floor-furnace grates are hazardous, especially to toddlers who can easily crawl onto the hot grates and suffer severe burns. Older children, too, and adults can fall and get burned by the hot surfaces.

Carbon monoxide poisoning is another furnace-related hazard. All fuel-burning appliances need air in order to burn the fuel properly. If an oil, gas, coal or wood furnace is "starved" of its necessary intake air, it will operate inefficiently and produce large quantities of carbon monoxide.

In an effort to save energy, many people are insulating their homes and closing off all drafts and air leaks. This can be hazardous if necessary air intake vents are blocked. In some older homes, the furnaces actually need drafty doors or windows in order to get enough air to burn the fuel properly.

Have your furnace checked regularly by a service company to make sure it is getting enough air to burn the fuel safely. Carbon monoxide can be fatal. Trying to light a pilot light or perform maintenance procedures can also be hazardous, if you're not familiar with the furnace. The accumulated vapors can ignite and cause a fire or burns. When using your furnace this winter, the following suggestions may help prevent accident and injury:

Cover the metal grates of floor furnaces with metal screens which will prevent children — and adults — from touching the hot surfaces. If you are insulating your house or trying to block air drafts around doors and windows, be sure you don't cut off that your furnace needs to burn its fuel properly. Generally, you need one square inch of intake air piping for every 5,000 BTU's per hour of heat produced by your furnace. Keep flammable liquids — such as gasoline — away from your furnace, because the vapors, which are flammable, could be ignited by the furnace pilot light. Keep such liquids in tightly-capped safety cans in a place that is away from any flame or heat sources — preferably outside. Do not attempt to light a pilot light unless you are familiar with the furnace and the proper techniques. If the pilot light goes out or the furnace needs adjustment, call an experienced service company or your gas company. Have your furnace checked at least once every year, to be sure there is adequate intake air and that the exhaust system is working properly. Have flues checked to be sure they are not blocked by debris, which could permit fumes to enter the house.

Open House tonight at Webster

Parents of Webster School pupils are invited to an "Open House" tonight from 7 to 9 o'clock at the school, James Jeffries, principal, announced this week.

"We are encouraging all parents to attend," Jeffries said.

The event is held annually in observance of American Education Week, being celebrated this week.

Parents may visit their children's classrooms and talk with teachers from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. today.

At 8 p.m., a special slide presentation, entitled "Progress at Webster School," will be shown as a highlight of the open house activities.

Faculty members will serve refreshments to parents and guests, starting at 8:30 p.m., in the cafeteria, the principal advised.

Members of the Webster PTA membership committee will occupy several tables at the school tonight, to encourage parents to join the parent-teacher association.

COURSES AT SCOTT BASE

Ten graduate and four undergraduate courses will be offered at the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Scott Air Force Base Resident Center during the winter quarter, according to Christa Oxford, coordinator of the center. Registration will be in Room 8 of Building 3190 from 9:30 a.m. until 7 p.m. Nov. 30 and Dec. 1 and 14. Students may also register on the SIUE campus during regular winter quarter registration.

Addresses Mo. school administrators

Mrs. Shirley King, director of the Gifted-Talented Program for the Ferguson-Florissant (Mo.) School District and a former Granite City resident, was among the key speakers at the 1978-79 Missouri School Administrators' conference the past weekend.

The conference concluded Monday evening at Tan-Ta-Ba Resort at the Lake of the Ozarks, Mo.

Mrs. King was accompanied to the annual meeting by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Dix, 221 Lenox Ave., Mitchell.

The educator addressed three groups of Missouri school board members and administrators on the topics—identification of gifted-talented students and organizational procedures for establishing gifted programs in school districts.

In her presentation, Mrs. King also explained funding sources available to supplement a district's efforts in implementing special classes for gifted children.

Last week, Mrs. King went to Houston, Tex., to take part in a national conference on gifted education. Mrs. Dix traveled to Houston with her daughter.

The educator serves as consultant to the Vandallia (Ill.) School District and other school systems in Missouri and Illinois.

She is responsible for conducting teacher training workshops in gifted education and parent involvement programs.

Additionally, Mrs. King is working toward her doctoral degree at St. Louis University. She attended Webster Grade School here and former Central Junior High School and was graduated from Granite City High School South.

Mrs. King graduated Magna Cum Laude in Education from the University of Missouri at St. Louis and earned her master of arts degree in Education from Washington University, St. Louis.

She is married to Tom King, owner of King's Pharmacy in Ferguson, Mo.

Their son, Philip, will graduate next month with a degree in Industrial Arts from Southeast Missouri State University at Cape Girardeau.

Mrs. King has been employed by the Ferguson-Florissant School District since 1961.

Teachers hear grant program

Dr. Lucile Klausner, president of Lambda State of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society, spoke to the Beta Eta Chapter at a meeting at Rusty's Restaurant, Edwardsville, during the weekend.

She told about the forthcoming grants that are sponsored by the society to aid teachers in pursuing further study and also women educators of different cultures.

President Helen Thatcher, president and reports were submitted by Beta Eta committee chairmen at the open executive board meeting.

The group was entertained by the "Celebration Company," a singing group of Eden United Church of Christ, of Edwardsville. Mrs. Audrey Deeren, a member of Beta Eta, served as the director.

Hostess committee of the day was Dolores Day, Lail Strohm and Bernice Brown.

Members attending from the Quad-City area were, Nancy Barnett, Marguerite Connole, Sandra DeMoulin, Viola Edwards, Georgia Engelke, Carol Gendron, Anna Marie Harn, Mary Harper, Nello Hart, Jerrylene Lyne, Ruth McCarthy, Gladys Pape, Helen Purkapple, Nancy Rainer, Valerie Stevens, Cleo Ulm, and Barbara Williams.

Webster PTA plans events

Webster School PTA board members finalized plans for several projects to take place within the next months at a meeting held Monday night at the school.

Mrs. Andrea Oliver, president, announced the R.I.F., reading is fundamental, book giveaway is to be held Friday, and open house observance will begin at 7 p.m. today.

Fund raising events discussed included a bake sale, candy sale and Christmas candy project and Christmas school program.

Also reviewed were requests for funds for an additional school phone line and for the PTA sponsored scouting groups.

Attending the board meeting were James Jeffries, principal, Yvonne Gray, Mary Veleff, Kathy Green, Barbara Schwertman, Ruth Dolosec and Peggy Dillard.

Not enough time to present all facts about the park bond election proposal; scheduling of the vote should be delayed

The question of whether to proceed with or to cancel a Nov. 25 special election City Park District board meeting at 5 p.m. today. We feel that the board should delay the election.

The decision to be made today is not whether park improvements should be proposed, but whether nine days from today is an appropriate date for the voting.

Park officials studying an unexpected veto of a state election law amendment concluded several weeks ago that the election would have to take place before Dec. 1 or wait until April, to be held simultaneously with other local balloting. They chose the Nov. 25 date in the belief that waiting until April for confirmation of some of the projects might delay them for nearly an extra year.

The disadvantage of a late November election is that it does not afford much time for either supporters or opponents to contact voters and organizations with their information and opinions.

To the extent that not all "pro and con" aspects can be heard by Nov. 25 on the swimming pool, ice skating, tennis and playground proposals, citizens would not have a full spectrum of knowledge on which to base their votes. Rejection of the package at this time would appear to be inevitable. Undoubtedly there are many who are against and many who are for the upgrading of park and recreational facilities. Certainly, park officials have done an outstanding job over a long period of years in providing 100 cents or more of value for every park dollar. They run an efficient program that offers much to people of all ages.

But while citizens like most of the past actions, park commissioners sense that they have struck a "five nerve" among the public in recommending even a less-than-10-cents per $100 assessment tax increase.

That the park district could save money for taxpayers by making various facilities more self-supporting is a concept obviously not accepted by most of those at a Nov. 9 public meeting on the referendum, even after the taxpayers had viewed a sales film that presented "wave pool" usage elsewhere in a highly attractive manner.

A difficult choice faces park commissioners, but the time element must be considered. They feel they have an effective message to relay to Granite City. Whether they could be sufficiently persuasive is unknown, but it is clear that with an election this month they just aren't going to be able to reach enough audiences.

Relatively decisive victory by Wolf for Illinois House seat

Sam W. Wolf had previous Illinois House service, so his election on Nov. 7 was not a surprise. But his previous appointive tenure in the legislature was so brief that it was difficult to develop a substantive record, and the brevity thus handicapped his initial bid for election two years ago.

Now that Wolf has tried again and won a clear-cut victory, it is time to applaud his persistence and to look forward to the representation that he will provide for the Quad-Cities and the remainder of the 56th Legislative District.

The local realtor-insurer is sympathetic to labor viewpoints and also has the benefit of years of successful business experience. His mature approach to a wide range of issues should stand him in good stead during the sometimes frenzied General Assembly deliberations.

The Madison County election canvass was completed late Monday, showing Wolf outdistancing Rep. Joe E. Lucco by 2,423 1/2 votes in this county, 24,521 1/2 to 22,078. Rep. Everett Steele led with 38,646 and Rep. Jim McPike was next with 27,933.

Official tallies Wednesday in the St. Clair County portion of the district were, in the same order, 2,190,560-1,573-2,281 1/2. The combined figures are 26,711 1/2-25,638, a margin of 1,073 1/2, with 40,219 1/2 for Steele and 30,214 1/2 for McPike.

Although unofficial returns had indicated a much smaller lead, the actual result shows that Wolf won rather decisively.

An Edwardsville precinct about which there was much to do actually had understated the Wolf vote by several hundred and thus was of no benefit to those hoping enough Lucco votes would be uncovered. And an Alton precinct apparently continues to deprive Representative-elect Wolf of more than 100 additional votes that cannot be salvaged without a recount suit.

Hearing OKs grant

Two major city projects to be included in the Community Development Grant Program and an application for a $1.9 million Urban Development Action Grant were approved in a dual-action public hearing in the City Hall here Tuesday night.

The hearing, at which Arvil Taylor, administrative aide to Mayor Paul Schulz presided, was called to receive public input in the UDAG application which asks funds to partly finance construction of the proposed downtown overpass project and to fund a downtown area housing rehabilitation and restoration project.

That objective was expanded, however, to include discussion of two proposals to be included in the city's 1980-81 Community Development block grant program.

Both of those projects - a request for $250,000 for citywide street restoration program to include curb and guttering and a request for $150,000 to improve West Pontoon Road west of the railroad tracks.

Both the projects were considered favorable and no adverse comment was made by a group of 12 citizens and officials, including members of the Granite City Community Resources Commission. Commission members who attended included Edgar Padlock, Jack Hood, David Whitsell, Carol Davis and Dave Morgan.

Others attending were Taylor, Mayor Schulz, Aldermen Clyde Boyd and Ronald Coleman, City Clerk Robert Stevens, Chief of Police Ronald Zeizer and Darrell Crews.

Taylor explained details of the programs that would be financed by the UDAG grant, noting that without construction of the overpass, development of the downtown area would be handicapped seriously.

Most bird strikes occur during takeoffs and landings, but birds are also a threat in the air during the spring and fall migration season when millions of ducks, geese, swans and other birds migrate in dense formations at altitudes as high as 20,000 feet.

Bird populations at airports also swell significantly at these times. Situated in many cases near water, mud flats, or marshy areas and quite often close to solid waste disposal sites, airports also attract birds because of architectural features that invite roosting, and decorative pools that birds use for bathing and drinking.

Getting serious about quality of government

Wall Street Journal - Tuesday's election yielded no major gains for either party, but it seems to us that we had a brand new nothingness. The voters are seriously concerned about the quality of government and have tried to elect candidates who were most closely attuned to their concerns.

In particular, the voters blame government for inflation, the economic problem they have had at the top of their worry list for most of this decade.

They want relief from rising prices and taxes.

They don't want grandiose programs and schemes, just good hard solutions like reductions in government spending and waste.

The seeming exceptions to this trend were more apparent than real. Kemp-Roth Republican Jeffrey Bell lost to Democrat William Bradley in New Jersey's Senate race, but by no means marginally.

Conservative Governor Melvin Thompson in New Hampshire was defeated by a Democrat, Hugh Gallen, but Mr. Gallen showed equally conservative and also made an issue of Mr. Thompson's support for higher electric utility rates.

Republican Robert Griffin lost his Senate race in Michigan, but most likely because of his indecisiveness about wanting to be a senator.

Governor Jerry Brown won easy re-election in California, but only after co-opting the tax and spending cut issue.

None of these outcomes alter the fact that liberals of both parties are the most frequent and prominent victims of the electorate.

Senators Wendell Anderson of Minnesota, Dick Clark of Iowa, Thomas McIntyre of New Hampshire, Floyd Haskell of Colorado, William Hathaway of Maine and Edward Brooke of Massachusetts all crashed to defeat.

Liberal Republican Charles Perry got a bad scare from an unknown conservative Democrat and professed in his closing days and evening victory speech that he had "learned a lesson," without detailing exactly what he meant.

Some prominent liberals, most notable Senator Clifford Case of New Jersey and Governor Michael Dukakis of Massachusetts, weren't even around for the election, having been dumped by more conservative foes in the primaries.

The conservative mood was particularly pronounced in state-level elections, as we had thought it might be.

Republicans had a net gain of six governorships and made strong comebacks in several legislatures.

Grassroots attitudes seem to be more clearly reflected in state than national contests.

The Kemp-Roth forces, who nearly succeeded in the last Congress with their plan to cut federal income taxes 35 percent over three years, feel that their hand will be strengthened in the new Congress despite the failure of the House to pass it.

They believe they won victories in Maine, New Hampshire, Minnesota and elsewhere. Representative Kemp himself got over 90 percent of the votes in his own district and has broad public following.

And while the Republican gain of 12 House seats is not large by historical standards, it looks a great deal larger when compared with some of the crucial votes in the past Congress.

In particular, the Holt amendment to the budget resolution - the spending cut - was defeated by a 2-1 margin, twice as many six votes as passage.

GAP poll of 35,000 voters on Tuesday suggests that the electorate rates spending cuts as even more important than tax reduction.

Many voters would apparently like to see government discipline itself and the new Congress to do that.

Beef producers have a strong bipartisan movement for beef restraint.

But the election has confirmed what the most astute politicians have been seeing for some months now.

The electorate is getting serious about the nation's economic problems and expects the politicians to get serious, too.

Reducing likelihood of bird-airplane collisions

(Fish and Wildlife Service) The Federal Aviation Administration and the Interior Department's U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service have stepped up measures to prevent collisions between planes and birds and to further advance airline passenger safety.

The two agencies have signed a formal agreement that will facilitate additional technical assistance and training of airport personnel by the Fish and Wildlife Service for individual airports with serious safety problems caused by birds and other vertebrates.

FAA will also cooperate in these training programs and research by the Interior agency to find improved ways to reduce this country's annual 1,200 bird strikes.

Bird strikes cost an estimated $20 million each year in damage to military and civilian aircraft. A four-pound bird striking a plane moving at 500 miles per hour impacts with a force of 80,000 pounds and has been known to shatter a windshield and badly dent the opposite cabin bulkhead.

More often, however, birds are sucked into jet engines, which can be instantly knocked out.

Bird strikes, or collisions, have been blamed for the loss of 140 human lives in this country since such record-keeping was started in the 1940s.

The most serious accident to date occurred in 1960 in Long Island, where 62 persons died after their commercial airliner flew into a flock of starlings.

In the past few years, several jetliners have been more fortunate when struck, successfully landing after their engines quit.

Most bird strikes occur during takeoffs and landings, but birds are also a threat in the air during the spring and fall migration season when millions of ducks, geese, swans and other birds migrate in dense formations at altitudes as high as 20,000 feet.

Bird populations at airports also swell significantly at these times. Situated in many cases near water, mud flats, or marshy areas and quite often close to solid waste disposal sites, airports also attract birds because of architectural features that invite roosting, and decorative pools that birds use for bathing and drinking.

Other attractions include standing water on runways or adjacent areas, tall grasses, and nesting areas to which birds are attracted and the related insect and rodent food supply.

The Fish and Wildlife Service will advise airports on how to make areas less attractive to birds and will train airport personnel in proper maintenance and dispersal techniques.

Some of the techniques are relatively simple and inexpensive and are already in use at several airports, including John F. Kennedy International, New York, which has the largest concentrations of gulls on the East Coast.

Simple techniques include draining pools, filling bird holes on runways, removing certain trees and shrubbery, and cutting grasses to certain heights.

Other techniques include relocation of existing garbage dumps that may be in air traffic corridors, and installing regular motor patrols of the runways to disperse birds.

Dispersal methods such as distress calls and explosive noise devices are also used to reduce the risk of bird strikes.

All of these deterrents are aimed at denying food, water and roosting areas to the birds in an effort to make them seek other, safer habitats - safer for themselves and the millions of people who use airports daily.

Airports that serve commercial airlines are required to have an adequate bird hazard control program as a condition of their annual certification by FAA.

The agency requires compliance continually and inspects the program yearly.

The memorandum of agreement between FAA and the Fish and Wildlife Service took effect Oct. 15, 1978, and includes cooperative efforts to identify other wildlife hazards at airports, such as deer.

Fish and Wildlife Service research data and other current information will be disseminated by FAA to the aviation industry as another means to increase awareness and, in turn, to obtain the industry's assessment of the effectiveness of current recommendations.

FAA will also identify airports with vertebrate pest problems and cooperate in the development and support of new techniques and training programs.

School spirit aids South in gaining third straight Illinois soccer crown

To the Editor: Congratulations to South Warren Coaches Gene Baker and Mel Bunting and their soccer players. They did a fine job in the state soccer tournament and we're all proud of them.

The South cheerleaders cheered well and with enthusiasm.

The drummers sent chills up and down everyone's spines and put everyone in the right mood for the games. Thanks for a job well done.

The so-far unsung heroes of the tournament are the South fans - students, parents and friends.

All of them displayed a school spirit that was not displayed by other schools. I believe Granite High South fans outdid the other schools very much about school spirit. It made me proud.

Wants park tax cut, not increase

To the Editor: I have read all the articles on the park board's $1,785,000 bond issue, to be voted on Nov. 25. Evidently, the board did not receive the message of the voters at the last election Nov. 7.

People are simply and financially interested in cutting taxes, controlling inflation and the cutting unnecessary spending.

This issue concerns all home owners. It will increase all home owners' taxes. I disagree with the voting date of Nov. 25. Many families will be away or preparing for Thanksgiving observances.

A small turnout of voters always favors those pushing for passage.

I am against the Wave-Tek Tax. This type favors only a few.

A decent swimming pool is needed, as we have in the past, where all members of the family can enjoy swimming and water activities together.

The 9.25 cents per $100 assessed valuation increase is an estimated amount. It can rise.

I took your past tax bill over and notice that the assessed valuation of your property was raised each year.

As home owners, let's get behind this and vote "no." GC HOME OWNER

Voices objections to bond issue plan

To the Editor: In the 14 years I have lived at my present address, my neighbors and I have had to fight valiantly to keep our neighborhood from becoming an "eyesore."

We have defeated petitions for an area of Wilson Park and turn it into a parking lot.

I, as a taxpayer, object to this bond proposal. I object to and turn our neighborhood into a noisy, litter-strewn nightmare.

I now read in your paper that the Park Board wants the taxpayers of this city to vote for a bond proposal that will actually give them permission to build an area of Wilson Park and turn it into a parking lot.

I, as a taxpayer, object to this bond proposal. I object to another parking lot in the park. I object to the wave machine. And I most certainly object to the fact that the park will be available to everyone within a radius of 50 to 100 miles.

Why should we pay taxes to accommodate people from Missouri and surrounding areas?

Carter plan no food price solution

To the Editor: President Carter's weekend announcements are a clear message to corn and beef producers that he intends to make agriculture the whipping boy for his anti-inflation campaign.

The president announced a feed grain set-aside program, and vetoed a bill that would have restricted his ability to permit imports of foreign beef.

It is obvious his administration intends to beat down farmers' prices for feed grains and meat, and hold them down.

The statements are little more than a grandstand stunt, even since his economic advisers tell him his actions won't solve the food price problem and its contribution to inflation.

Beef producers have suffered losses for years. They find themselves faced with beef imports that can be used to beat down American farmers on a minute it becomes profitable to produce beef for the American consumer.

This dampens any enthusiasm the beef industry might have to increase production, which would lead to better consumer prices for better-quality beef.

Many corn producers are producing a crop below the cost of production again this year. The set-aside program, which is used as an alternative for some farmers, has come too late.

With an excellent harvest crop, nearly 75 percent of fall plowing and fertilizer application is completed, making it too late for farmers to change their spring planting intentions.

Even if the program had been announced earlier, as farmers were teased into believing would be the case, the government's goal for acreage reduction is only a fraction of what would be necessary to hold back 1979 overproduction.

The program is designed to hold down feed grain prices to help feeders, but it does not hold down the levels. Mr. Carter already told business and labor they can use.

Everybody else has been told to peg increases at five to seven percent, but President Carter is telling the farmer his increases in prices must be substantially less.

The wonder if Mr. Carter is willing to tell all those people from whom farmers must buy machinery and chemicals and the other things we use to produce food - that they must hold their increases to four percent?

The president apparently looks at the number of farmers, and decides that they don't matter, politically.

He'd better take another look. He's tampering with the nation's food supply, and that affects everyone.

It's time that everyone who eats realizes what is happening and speaks - up if he wants to keep agriculture strong enough to continue to produce an ample supply of the best quality food at the fairest prices in the world.

Predicts park bond election will fail

To the Editor: I have never felt that my ideas on any issue would greatly affect the actions of my friends and neighbors, but I must express my thoughts on the Wave-Tek pool that our Park Board is proposing.

I am afraid our Park Board members have failed to get the message that taxpayers across the nation have been sending to our elected officials:

"Less taxes, more taxes." In these days of the shrinking dollar and rising prices, people are especially retired home owners - have to resist every proposal that would further reduce their assets.

If we need a new pool, so be it, but not a million-dollar-plus pool.

If the Wave-Tek pool is part of the total bond issue, then I predict the whole bond issue will fail, precipitating another election at a later date. Not very good economy.

A tip of the hat to Park Commissioner Barry Loman, who has retained his sense of values.

CHARLES WADE
25 Del Rio

Out-of-staters usually bring trouble

To the Editor: In regards to the new Wave-Tek swimming pool that's coming up for voters' ratification, my opinion is I feel that this great amount of money, $1,304,000 for a swimming pool, is just too much.

For that kind of money, an indoor pool could be built with 12 months of operation and not only four months, as this type would be.

Secondly, this is not what the people of Granite City want, people gathered from different communities, towns and states.

Look what's happening now, when the young out-of-staters come over to buy beer, and liquor - fights, shootings, car chases, and all kinds of trouble.

Thirdly, the combination in the bond issue - the Wave-Tek pool, the expansion of the playground facilities, the resurfacing of tennis courts, the construction of two tennis courts and basketball courts, and the ending of the ice arena - seems unusual. In order to get this big new pool approved, these small items are being thrown in so the voters will approve the issue.

Remember $1,304,000 is just for the pool. The total bond issue is $1,785,000.

Finally, with this great amount of money, our taxes are going to go up.

Some say around 10 cents per $100 assessed valuation; some say an average of $15 per Granite City family.

It is to our best advantage to vote this particular bond issue down and form a bond issue on just a regular type of swimming pool or refurbish the one that we have.

Remember, it's our city, and this is a democratic way of letting the people speak out. What will it be?

SPURCE STREET CITIZEN

Concrete surface can bruise surfers

To the Editor: On Oct. 23 you published a letter I had written questioning the wisdom of installing a surfing pool in Wilson Park.

That evening I had a number of phone calls from people who agreed with my view, and the next evening I had two more calls, one from a young man who works for the Park District.

He said he did not want to argue with me, but merely wanted to set me straight on what the pool would really be. He said that the three-foot waves would be confined to the back half of the pool. How that can be escapes me.

When I asked if the pool would have a sandy beach to prevent injury that are bound to occur when flesh scrapes concrete, he said it would be all-concrete and would be for body surfing only, no boards.

In the Oct. 26 edition of your newspaper of your newspaper there was an item about the Oct. 25 meeting of the Park Board, and I quote from that item: "Construction is proposed of a 'Wave-Tek' pool that would generate three-foot waves for use of surf boards." Where does the truth of this whole matter lie?

MARY C. ROGAN
Granite City

(Editor's note: Authorities say waves would be almost nonexistent at the shallow, wide end of the proposed swimming-surfing pool. Small rubber rafts would be rented, but no boards or other hard objects would be permitted.)

Gene Baker reflects on another winning season

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — It seems to be a familiar story around these parts. About this time of year for the past three seasons, we want the players to come to us with any of their problems.

people have been talking around Granite City about what a great season Granite City High School South's soccer team has had.

They talk about which players did an outstanding job, which players on the opposing teams gave them the most trouble.

They talk about how many players South is going to be losing because of graduation and they talk about one more thing. The state championship the Warriors just finished winning.

"There's a reason we're good year after year and other schools have a good team just once every so often," said South Coach Gene Baker. "We play the youngest players possible."

"If, for instance, a freshman can do the same things a senior can do, the freshman plays," he said. "If a sophomore can do the same things a junior can do, the sophomore starts."

"That's why we're good every year and teams like Quincy Notre Dame have a great team just once in a while."

Baker's remarks came Tuesday, two days after the South Warriors had won their third consecutive Illinois State Soccer Championship in Bloomington-Normal with a 2-0 victory over Evanston in the title match.

"We had a very tough season at times," said Baker. "There was the tie with Waterloo Gilbault, the loss to Belleville West in the first game of the North Sectional."

"And of course, there was October 5, 1978. The loss to Granite North," said Baker. "After that game, people were saying, 'South's dead now, who'll take their place?'"

"But those people have been out of it for over a week now, and we're still alive and kicking."

Baker said there are many people to thank for sticking with him during the past season. "Mel (Bunting, South assistant) has evolved into a very good soccer coach," said Baker. "At times, there have been people who have questioned his ability as a coach. I think those critics have been put to rest now with his season."

The South junior varsity finished with a 15-1 record.

"But the people who have meant the most to me this past season," said Baker, "are my parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Baker. They've stuck with me through thick and thin."

"There's been a lot of this lately, but it's starting to get a little thicker now," he chuckled. "I hope it stays that way."

Then Baker was asked about a sub he doesn't talk about very much — his team meetings. What exactly goes on in those meetings which at times last hours?

"I've been asked what goes on in our meetings by many people," he said. "But I haven't really wanted to tell people for fear of rumors spreading and people who shouldn't be involved getting involved."

"But all that goes on in them really is talk. Lots and lots of talk. We talk about everything in the meetings, not just soccer, even though that is our main topic."

"If a player has a problem in school, we like for him to come to us with it," said Baker. "We've built up a camaraderie with our team members that I feel is unique in high school sports these days."

"If a freshman can do what a senior can, the freshman plays"

"We talk about things like, 'When does the all-area team come out?' or 'Why is so-and-so starting instead of me?' or 'Why do we have to do this or that in practice?' It's important to the players and it's important to us that we get these things straightened out so we can get to the business of playing soccer."

Baker said he thanks the parents of many of the players for the patience they've shown during the season. "There have been many times when practice would be over at 6 o'clock and a player wouldn't get home until 8," he said. "That's because of our meetings."

"I realize that all parents have the best interest of their children at heart and want the best for them. They try to go along with them during the season and try to be understanding. But there's one thing they have to realize. They aren't high school soccer players at this point in time, so they can't really know what the boys are going through.

Baker and Bunting aren't in Granite City today. They're on their way back from Chicago where they attended the all-state banquet yesterday. But if things went up there like they did last year, South won't get much recognition. It seems the northern schools can't stand the idea of a Southern Illinois dominating any sport.

How does Baker feel about it? "I think the northern schools might be a little jealous," he said. "Because of that, indirectly, I think we have even more to overcome during a state final series than other schools do. That's because the tournament is always played up north."

But at any rate, Gene Baker can have at least one more year to sit back, relax, look at his three first place trophies and dream of a fourth championship.

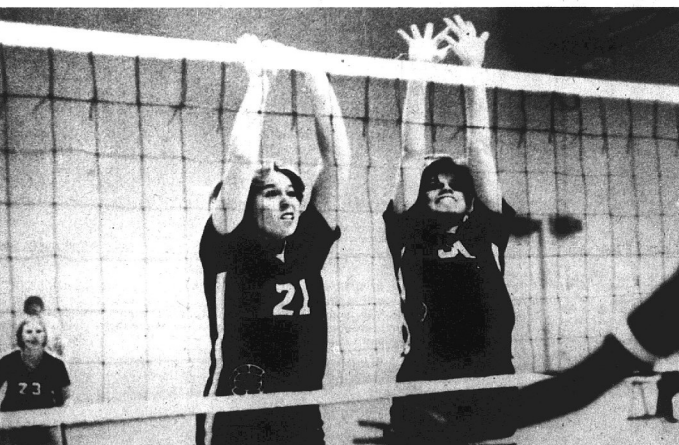

Never count Gene Baker out.

Edwardsville tables new loop

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
EDWARDSVILLE — It seems only a matter of time before the proposed Metro Suburban Conference, which will include both Granite City high schools, becomes a reality.

The Edwardsville school board, the only member yet to approve the conference, is in the process of studying the constitution of the organization and considering reaction from the community. If there are no major conflicts the proposal will be before the Edwardsville board Dec. 11. If Edwardsville approves it, the conference will begin next year. North, South, Althoff and Cahokia have either officially or tentatively approved their inclusion as charter members of the conference.

Dick Ford, athletic director at Edwardsville, said he didn't foresee any difficulty in approving the membership of Edwardsville. "This is just a normal procedure the board goes through. It's just a matter of formality," he said.

The procedure was started at the Edwardsville school board meeting last Monday when a recommendation that the board study the conference's constitution was made. Board members seemed eager to act on the proposal. Board member Bill Fester said, "I don't see the need for all this study."

There was some concern, however, by board member Roland Brunnett about the exclusion of Collinsville, who made the recommendation to the board said if Collinsville were included, the conference would be placed in a division with larger schools. "The Collinsville program, according to some people's thinking is poor," he added.

Cougars prepare to do battle with Bills in Midwest Regional

By AL BARNES
for the Press-Record
It's an old, old story. The Cougars of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will battle it out with their bitter rival, St. Louis University, for the right to represent this section of the nation in the NCAA Division I post-season soccer tournament next Sunday afternoon.

Since the Bills of Coach Harry Keough defeated the Cougars of Coach Bob Gueller last Saturday night at Bunch Memorial Stadium in St. Louis by a 1-0 score, the first-round Midwest NCAA regional tournament game will be played on the astroturf field of Lindenwood College in St. Charles, Mo.

Kickoff time is 1 p.m. Tickets are $2 in advance and $3 at the gate.

The other two universities in the Midwest shootout are Indiana University and Cleveland State. They'll battle it out Sunday for the right to meet the winner of the SIUE-SIU game the following week. The winner of the Midwest will advance to the national semifinals and championship contest in Florida the last of November or first of December.

The annual Bronze Boot Classic, Saturday at Bunch Stadium, was as even as two standard teams could make it. The game's outcome figured, from the start, to be decided by a lucky break for either team. And, that's what happened.

Shortly after the second half started, the Bills' Larry Hulcer, who was voted the game's Most Valuable Player, took a ball at midfield and fed it to the hard-kicking St. Louis U. field general, Ty Keough. He blasted a ball goalward, and the Cougars' young but outstanding defenseman, Tim Clark, in attempting to kick the ball from his goal, barely got his shoe on the ball, and it caromed into the back of the net.

In the first half, each team took 11 shots on goal, but in battling back to even it up and to win it all, the Cougars managed to outshoot the Bills for the game, 24 to 19. In corner kicks, SIUE was tops, 7-5.

Probably for the first time in the eight-year history of the Bronze Boot game, the SIUE fans outnumbered those from St. Louis U. And, there's little doubt who would have won the game's most valuable award if they'd voted on it.

It would have been the Cougars' veteran, senior candidate for All-American honors, Robert (Bob) Robson. It was the "Roper's" finest hour as a collegiate goalkeeper. He made at least five "saves," which had the fans screaming in awe and sheer admiration. In all, he finished the game with nine "saves."

Robson's more publicized freshman opposite in goal, Jim Tietjen, also was at his best as he registered eight "saves" to keep the Cougars off the scoreboard.

In fact, Tietjen was tested early on and no doubt saved the game for the Bills as he knocked away a try by Tim Gueller at only 10:41 into the game and another by a Cougar coach's son at 32:05. His third "save" that important first 45 minutes was on a great head shot by the Cougars' leading scorer, Don Ebert, with just seven minutes and forty seconds remaining in the first half.

Two St. Louis U. shots, that last half though, had the fans almost out of their minds. Both were by the Bills' Tom Malle, a terrific winger, and each was eyeball-close in to Robson.

Robson stopped the first one even though the shot looked like a blurr from the stands. Robson's catlike reaction knocked the ball down. Malle pounced on it again and, if possible, kicked it goalward even faster than his first attempt. Again, Robson made the save.

The Bills now are ahead in the Bronze Boot series, 4-3-1 and 10-5-1 in the overall series.

In the NCAA series, the two soccer powerhouses have met every year but two in the Midwest regional tournament playoffs: in '72 they didn't play because SIUE was in Division II (small schools), it was then called, and last year when Cleveland State eliminated St. Louis.

The Cougars finished their regular season Monday afternoon in a driving rainstorm by romping over a strong (9-0) Bowling Green State U. team of Ohio, 4-1.

The Sporting Thing

By Pete Hayes

Warriors set many records Sorry, South's not the first

Just a few notes on the state championship won by GCHS South's soccer team last weekend before we move on...

The victory by South (2-0) in the championship marked the fifth time the title game has been a shutout. Chicago Harrison defeated Cicero Morton East 1-0 in 1973 for the crown. New Trier West beat Wheaton Central 1-0 in four overtimes for the championship in 1975. Hinsdale Central defeated Maine East 2-0 in 1975's title match. South beat Wheaton Central 4-0 for the crown in 1976, the first of the Warriors' three straight championships.

Even though South beat Chicago Schurz in 1977 by the most lopsided score in title history, it was not a shutout. The Warriors beat Schurz last year for the title 6-1.

There were many other records set or tied this year. They were: Fewest shots attempted against (tournament) 21, broke record set by South in '76 and '77 of 27; Most goals by penalty kick—1, tied several; Fewest saves—0, broke record of 10 set by South in 1977.

Most shutouts—3, tied record set by South in 1976; Consecutive scoreless quarters one tournament—12, tied record held by South '76 and Wheaton Central '74;

Most tournament appearances—5, added to own record; Most penalty kicks attempted one game—1, tied several; Most goals penalty kick—1, tied several; Fewest shots on goal against on game—2 (twice), broke record of 3 held by Chicago Senn against Niles West '74.

Fewest shots attempted against one game—5, broke record of 6 set by South also this year. Previous record was 8 by South against New Trier East '77; Fewest saves one game—0 (twice), tied New Trier West vs. Villa Park, 1975; Fewest goals allowed in title game—6, broke record of 7 set by South against Wheaton Central in '76; Consecutive scoreless quarters in title game—4, tied several; Most appearances in title game—3 (broke record of 2 held by three schools); Most corner kicks in title game—5, tied two schools; Most corner kicks by both team in title game—7, broke record of 6 held by two teams; Most titles—3, broke record of 2 held by South.

The 2,000 attendance at the championship game broke both the record for the most people at a title match, but also most attendance at any game.

Gene Baker added to his record of most titles, most times coached in state championship game and most games won in state tournament (10).

Not too bad an effort. The three straight state championships won by South in soccer ARE NOT the first three-in-a-row won by any school in any sport. The Carmi golf team has won four consecutive state titles, a string which the Warriors can't touch. Sorry, South fans, but you're not the first.

Flag football... it ain't easy

ST. LOUIS — Flag football teams in the Gateway Flag Football League, comprised mainly of teams from around St. Louis, were handed an upset over the weekend that never was expected at the beginning of the season. The Victory Tavern team, led by Sam Dymas, started the season by losing their first game at the hands of the Mean Machine. They were trampled 28-12 but did keep the 'Machine' from scoring in the last three quarters. The team then put together their offensive and defensive games to win the next seven regular season games and the division title. On Nov. 5 they won the playoff game and Sunday won the championship game 20-15, finishing the season with a 9-1 record. Dymas summed up the extra efforts of the players which resulted in the great season record, saying, "When we lose, it's a team loss and when we win, it's a team win. There's no stars and no special treatment for certain players. Teamwork is the key and that's how a team wins."

Once more... with feeling

BLOOMINGTON-NORMAL — Winning three state championships in anything is an outstanding achievement. But winning those three back-to-back, as Granite City South High's soccer team did this past weekend here, is even more outstanding. Since it's such a rarity, we thought you'd like to take another look at it...

Swanson promoted

William D. Swanson has been promoted to general superintendent of finishing at Granite City Steel. It was announced by Arthur A. Kuhlman, vice president-operating.

Granite City Steel, largest steel producer in the St. Louis metropolitan area, is a division of National Steel Corporation. In his new post, Swanson succeeds E. Sherman Atkinson, who has moved to National's Midwest Steel Division, Portage, Ind., as general plant superintendent there.

Swanson, 48, joined Granite City Steel in June 1974 from the National Steel Research and Development Center at Weirton, W. Va., where he had been supervisor of coated products research.

He began his National Steel career with another division, Stran Steel in Terre Haute, Ind., and then in Houston, Tex., in product development.

Earlier—1957 through 1959—he had been with a former GC Steel division, Granco Steel Products, in research and testing.

He came to GC Steel in 1974 as a division metallurgist for raw materials and laboratory services, and in August 1976 was promoted to assistant chief metallurgist in the Department of Metallurgy and Inspection. He became superintendent of cold rolled products in June 1977.

A native of Columbia, Mo., Swanson is a graduate of the University of Missouri, where he received a bachelor of science degree in structural engineering. He has also done graduate work at Rose Polytechnic Institute (Terre Swanson served in the U.S. Army during the Korean war from August 1952 to May 1954. He spent some time in Korea and was discharged as a first lieutenant.

He and his wife, Shirley, make their home in St. Louis County. They have a 21-year-old daughter and sons aged 19 and 17.

THIEF ESCAPES

A young man, about 20 years old, fled from J&J Liquors, 3112 Maryville Road, after the store owner, Joe Stephens, saw him hiding something under his jacket during the weekend. Stephens grabbed the young man and a bottle of rum fell out and broke on the parking lot. The man then got loose and ran toward the Parkside Apartments.

Program to provide daily calls to elderly

Senior citizens in Nameoki Township who feel a daily telephone call from township employees would make them feel safer may now enter such a program, approved Monday night by the Nameoki Town Board of Trustees.

The board discussed the Telephone Care program in Collinsville and decided such a program could benefit several township residents who live alone and would appreciate a daily telephone call to see if they are well and if they need anything. The board decided the

In conjunction with the township's van for senior citizens, officials hope some of the more important needs of those who live alone can be met. Referrals to the meals-on-wheels, visiting nurses and other also may be made as the result of the daily contacts.

Anyone feeling daily calls from the township would be beneficial may call the township at 931-1230 to enter the program, officials said.

Charge 2 in accident

William E. McGrath, 25, of 1329 Grand Ave., Madison, was charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor and with permitting an unauthorized person to drive his car after an accident near the 1000 block of Kirkpatrick Homes at 4:10 p.m. Monday.

McGrath's auto struck a railroad tie beside the road, pulling it from the ground, police said. They alleged a 15-year-old girl was driving the car at the time and charged the girl with not having a driver's license. McGrath was released on $70 bond.

Washington gymnastics

Eighteenth annual gymnastics competition was held at Washington Elementary School on Friday. Thirty-one fifth and sixth grade boys and girls demonstrated routines on the parallel bars, side horse, and parallel bars before their fellow students, teachers, families and friends.

All boys and girls in the fifth and sixth grades were given an opportunity to create their own routine and demonstrate it before their physical education class. Each routine was evaluated and the best were chosen to be in the competition, according to Nancy Marti, physical education teacher.

Judges for the Friday afternoon competition were Mrs. Suzanne Lentz, Mrs. Eva Podnar and Mrs. Rebecca Miller, teachers at Washington School. Each contestant received a ribbon for participation.

Winners and their apparatus were: boys balance beam: Johnny Pastoriza (1st); girls balance beam: Della Corbitt (1st), Jodi Boyer (2nd), Angela Patton (3rd) and Sherry Christner (4th).

Boys parallel bars: David Gibson (1st), John Rutledge and Bert Sechrest (tied for 2nd), Randy Kelley (3rd), Donald Graham (4th), Salvador Toro and Jeff Vaughn (5th-tie), and Bobby Barnhart (6th).

Girls parallel bars: Donna Mitchell (1st), Donetta Teachener and Katrina Winstead (2nd-tie), Sandra Diak (3rd), Tina Knight (4th), Angel Clark (5th), and Tracie Bouch and Michelle Edwards (6th-tie).

Boys side horse: John Varadian (1st), Jerry Bellovich (2nd), David Combs (3rd), Larry Grooms (4th), Robert Dunham and Eric Smith (5th).

Girls side horse: Leigh Ann Fanning (1st), Stephanie Lovschaff (2nd), Monica Smith (3rd) and Cindy Rigby (4th).

Objects to way 'track record' used

ABOUT LANGUAGE
By Garry N. Murphy
SIUE Department of English

OFF THE TRACK — "But what was their overall track record?" asks Mike Wallace on a "60 Minutes" program. In so doing, he helps perpetuate a curious mistake in current usage.

A horse doesn't have a track record, though he might set one, which in turn might be broken by another horse.

Off track, however, the phrase has now come to mean "long-term average" or "overall past performance."

What is odd is that this mistaken use seems to have started at the top of the communications ladder and worked its way down to street level.

There is, of course, no way those of us in the know can stamp out the inaccuracy. All we can do is sit back and smile smugly whenever we hear about someone's track record.

Send your questions to Prof. Garry Murphy, Department of English, Box 43, SIU at Edwardsville, Ill. 62026.

Stereotyped roles of men, women opposed

Lectures and workshops dealing with the black and feminist movements and black women's self-awareness were conducted by the founder and executive director of the National Alliance of Black Feminists, Brenda Daniels-Eichelberger, last week at SIUE.

Known as the "mother of black feminism," she said, "Feminism is a dimension of humanism." She believes that American women, particularly blacks, should question the "whole sex-role identification" concept that is present in contemporary society, and push for "eliminating sexism."

She added that men "basically have two areas in which they can excel, the intellectual and physical." Women "have only one avenue in which to excel," explained Mrs. Eichelberger, "and that is beauty."

The feminist leader advocates elimination of traditional and stereotyped male and female roles. She called for a "restructuring" of society that would benefit working women, especially women who are sole breadwinners of families.

"For the most part, the average woman is working a full-time job and coming home and working another full-time job," she said. Increasing the number of day-care centers and on-the-job child care centers was proposed.

The recommendations implementation of "flex-time" programs by employers as another solution for the "plight of the working woman." "Flex-time" refers to the opportunity to work hours outside the standard "rigid eight-to-five time block," according to the feminist.

MUSICAL ON CHANNEL 9
There was a time when Geraldine Fitzgerald's own children would ask her to stop singing lullabies. Now there are cabarets full of people singing along with her and her following includes some big-name stars. 7-year accreditation for Education School

"An excellent elementary education program, expert faculty and support services, and a well-designed admissions and student teaching program" have been cited as strengths in a voluntary accreditation review of the School of Education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE), which voted approval of all basic and advanced teacher training programs at SIUE, granted accreditation to the local university until Sept. 1, 1985.

The vote was based on recommendations of the NCATE evaluation team which visited the campus in March 1978.

"The school is delighted with Joseph Gore, associate dean for instruction. The report cited numerous strengths in both basic and advanced programs and only one weakness."

Gore said the school has been aware of its lack of adequate evaluation and long-range planning, cited in the report, but tends to commit available resources to ongoing programs instead of a follow-up.

Evaluations are conducted by individual departments, but not on a consistent basis and not in all schools, he said.

To meet the deficiency, the school plans to introduce a questionnaire as part of an evaluation system this spring.

The NCATE team also praised SIUE for its use of instructional technology, including a unique computer laboratory, and the quality and use of facilities, cooperating teachers and part-time faculty.

At the advanced level, the team also praised the school's strong leadership and its encouragement of faculty research. Outside the School of Education, the council outlined concerns for a lack of facilities for art, music and physical education, a catalog system for departmental libraries and wider development of advanced programs.

Representatives of the Illinois Soybean Program operating board were in St. Louis last week on a two-fold mission of presenting a check for $250,000 to the American Soybean Association Market Development Foundation and to tour the new world headquarters of the ASA in its first week of operation.

The check was presented to the foundation on behalf of Illinois soybean farmers. "This is the first part of what will be a major investment in market development activities by Illinois and in the 1978-79 crop year," said Roger Thorsen of Morris, chairman of the Illinois Soybean Program Operating Board.

Thorsen noted that during the 1977-78 crop year, Illinois farmers invested over $50,000 in ASA market development activities.

Through their half-cent per bushel grower investment checkoff, Illinois farmers again will invest heavily in worldwide market development. "We expect to meet or exceed last year's level of investment this year," Thorsen commented.

In addition to market development, Illinois checkoff funds are invested in soybean research. Recently, it was announced that Illinois farmers will fund a new research position at the University of Illinois.

Other research funds are used to back projects across the nation aimed at reducing production costs and finding new uses for beans.

The Operating Board, made up entirely of soybean farmers, is responsible for investing the Illinois soybean checkoff funds. Funds invested by the board are used for market development and research to hold down the cost of production and increase efficiency in using soybeans.

Gore said the school is aware of the constraints in these areas and will work with the related schools to seek solutions.

The Illinois General Assembly has appropriated planning funds for a physical education, recreation and athletic facility which also would be adequate for the education programs, he said.

Gore described the accreditation review as "an overall helpful experience, and an opportunity to exchange ideas with educators who have expertise in all fields."

The council specifically granted reaccreditation of programs to prepare elementary and secondary teachers at the baccalaureate and master's level — including secondary teachers at the specialist level, and elementary teachers in kindergarten to twelfth grade programs in art, music, physical education and special education.

Reaccreditation was also granted for advanced programs for preparation of elementary and secondary principals, superintendents and guidance counselors.

A master's degree program in school psychology — and specialist and supervisor programs for supervisors — received initial accreditation.

(Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness)

This September Governor James Thompson of Illinois signed a bill legalizing the use of marijuana in the state for the "humane medical treatment" of cancer and glaucoma.

The law, to be effective Jan. 1, 1979, will enable doctors to prescribe and dispense marijuana derivatives when conventional glaucoma treatment fails.

"The bill does not legalize marijuana," the governor explained. "Far from it."

"The measure provides for humane medical treatment, using marijuana where it has been clinically shown to be helpful, under tightly controlled conditions."

Passage of the legislation has been a development of considerable concern to ophthalmologists, who feel that legalization of treatment may give rise to unforeseen difficulties for uninformed glaucoma patients.

John G. Bellows, M.D., an ophthalmologist and a director of the International Glaucoma Congress, has stated their fears in a number of publications. He writes:

"The legalization of marijuana for the treatment of glaucoma suggests that it is a valuable therapeutic agent."

"Though in some patients marijuana may reduce the increased intraocular pressure caused by glaucoma, conventional remedies are far more effective."

"Marijuana decreases intraocular pressure for only two hours. The short-term effectiveness of marijuana lessens its usefulness considerably."

"Since glaucoma requires lifelong treatment, the exclusive use of marijuana would require that the patient smoke 'pot' for his entire life."

"Marijuana is also known to produce transitory side effects, including nystagmoid movements, impaired focusing, double vision, transitory loss of vision, corneal anesthesia, conjunctival infection, decreased tearing, and constriction of the pupils."

"In addition, marijuana may alter perceptions of reality, reduce alertness, and impair short-term memory."

"The prevention of glaucoma blindness requires the patient's lifelong compliance in using conventional medication and periodic examinations by a skilled ophthalmologist to determine whether the disease is under control."

Christmas ideas, handcrafted items at Saturday's festival

Sand art, wooden wagons and birdhouses, doll furniture and ceramics are but a few of the craft items and ideas to be displayed Saturday at the first "Christmas Ideas Festival" to be sponsored by the Granite City Park District.

The festival is a new concept among the park district's many programs and will serve as a showcase for over 40 craftsmen to demonstrate their artistry, exhibit their finished products and offer the items for sale.

Starting at 10 a.m. Saturday and continuing through 5 p.m., the festival will take place at the Nameoki Recreation Center, Amos and Franklin avenues.

No admission will be charged the public.

"Everyone is invited to attend, browse around, watch several of the craftsmen at work and purchase what he or she wishes from the original items on display," Harold Brown, park district superintendent, said this week.

Craft artists from surrounding communities, the metropolitan St. Louis areas and the Quad-Cities have reserved tables and booths at the festival, Brown advised.

"It is the largest project of its type to be undertaken locally and we are hoping the public will support the program," Brown stated in urging area residents to attend.

Refreshments, such as hot dogs, potato chips, coffee and soft drinks, will be available during the festival, the park officer advised.

Other articles to be displayed at the festival, include: Christmas ornaments and stockings, batiks, wreaths, pillows, wooden name signs, leather goods, wooden puzzles, pottery, macramé, tote bags, patchwork items, gemstone trees, dolls, tin-can craftswork, cornhusk objects, painted briefcases and aprons, ecology boxes, wooden toys, stuffed animals, tote painted baskets and other items, pictures featuring the "quilling" art, door decorations for the holidays, numerous hand-carved gift items and wheat woven goods.

"Saturday's festival will be a great place to do your Christmas shopping for the family, friends and yourself," Brown added.

TAX BOOK AVAILABLE AT EXTENSION OFFICE

A new publication entitled "Taxation: Federal, State and Local Systems" is available at the Madison County Agricultural Extension Office, 900 Hillsboro, Edwardsville. It covers the local government tax system, local revenue dependence on the property tax, the federal tax system, the Illinois tax system, and taxing authority under the new state constitution.

The book is published by the University of Illinois Agriculture Economics Department. It is available free on request from the extension office.

TOLP-PAINTED BASKETS. created by Judy Padgett, are among those she will offer for sale in a Strawberry Patch Originals booth at the Granite City Park District's Christmas Ideas Festival at the Nameoki Recreation Center, Amos and Franklin avenues, Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mrs. Padgett, a resident of Edwardsville for the past year, is a co-founder of Downtown Neighborhood Restoration Society (DRNS) of Granite City. The public is invited to attend the festival without charge.

Arlington R. Hinson, 85, of 270 E. 24th St., Ill for five years, died at 8:25 p.m. Tuesday at the Colonades Nursing Home where he had resided for three months.

Born in Stewart County, Tenn., he resided in Granite City 33 years.

Mr. Hinson was a member of Trinity United Methodist Church and belonged to Masonic Lodge 877.

He retired in 1958 at Granite City Steel after 40 years service in the strip mill.

Group booms Patrick for Pontoon mayor Be cautious on front door sales Opposition for leadership in Pontoon Beach seems apparent in the April Village Board election due to the organization of a group of citizens who are encouraging a ticket headed by Donald Patrick for president of the village board.

The group, calling itself the "Patrick for Progress in Pontoon Beach" committee, is co-chaired by Charlie Polley, 4052 Gastlight Walk, and Richard G. McIntosh, 6 Fontainebleau Drive, both in Pontoon Beach.

Patrick has said he is uncertain if he will run, but would be interested if a "winning ticket of people who want to see the village grow" can be formed.

Polley and McIntosh issued a statement on behalf of the Patrick Committee afternoon. The text follows.

"We have organized in an effort to try and encourage Donald D. Patrick to become a candidate for the office of village president of the village of Pontoon Beach," McIntosh told the Press-Record.

"We plan to circulate petitions throughout the village, asking people to sign, to convince Patrick that there is a demand for change, leadership and progress in the village of Pontoon Beach."

"We feel that Patrick is the person that can bring these conditions about," McIntosh added.

"We also are putting together a complete ticket," Polley stated. "One that we hope will be acceptable to Don. We have talked to Don on several occasions, the last time we met with him, he said he would study the situation."

"We hope that the forming of this committee, the signing of the petitions, and the proposal of a ticket, will convince Don to run."

"Don has a proven record of leadership ability and we feel that he is the person that can bring respect, pride and change with progress to the village of Pontoon Beach. Don was born and raised in Pontoon Beach; he cares about the village and its people," the statement concluded.

The group is opposing the announced candidacy of Trustee Paul Bennett who hopes to replace Board President David J. McNeil. McNeil has not said if he plans to run for trustee, but has announced he will not run again for village board president.

Polley said anyone wishing to join the Patrick committee or aid in its objectives may contact him at 451-4512.

Be cautious on front door sales

(Office of Lieutenant Governor Dave O'Neal)

With the Christmas season approaching, we have these suggestions for dealing with door-to-door salesmen:

Q. Should I buy from a door-to-door salesperson?

A. To answer this question, you must ask yourself several other questions first: Do I really need this item? Can I easily afford it? Could I buy it somewhere else for less money?

There are several advantages of shopping at home. First, if you have trouble getting around, it is more convenient for the salesperson to come to you. He may bring a wider selection of merchandise from which to choose.

You may also have the option of paying later for the merchandise you buy. But, there are certain disadvantages.

An important consideration is where you can go to get the product fixed if it breaks down. In all probability, you will never see the salesperson again.

By buying from out-of-town people, you are also depriving your town's merchants of your business.

Above all, you may end up paying for merchandise which you are to receive later. If it doesn't come, will you know where to go for satisfaction?

The salesperson will have your money, so he probably doesn't know or doesn't care if you don't get what you paid for.

Evaluate these pros and cons for yourself and decide what you will do. Remember, there are reputable firms which sell through door-to-door salespeople.

If a door-to-door salesperson tries to deceive you in any way to get you to buy his products, he is breaking a state law. If this happens to you, contact the Office of the Attorney General, Consumer Fraud and Protection Division.

There is an office in Springfield at 600 S. 2nd St., and another at 228 N. LaSalle in Chicago.

Contact them as soon as you can. They will be happy to help you. Your prompt action could help other people.

Q. What happens if I sign a contract?

A. The best advice to remember when you sign a contract is this: You are bound by that contract and you must live up to your end of the bargain. Make sure that all blanks are filled in before signing, and that you receive a copy.

There are certain exceptions to this rule, but make sure you know your situation before signing the contract.

If the salesperson comes to your home without you asking him to, and sells you something that costs more than $25, he must also tell you about your right under state law.

This law says that, under these circumstances, you have three business days to cancel the agreement.

What should I do if I suspect a salesperson is fraudulent?

A. If the person uses high-pressure tactics, you don't want to deal with him. Tell him you would like to think about his offer and ask him to come back the next day.

If he refuses to come back for a day, you know he will never come back if you have problems with your product. Again, if he refuses, you don't want to deal with him.

In either case, call the police immediately, and contact the attorney general's office. Your prompt action could save other people from being gyped.

If you wait even one day to report the person could be hundreds of miles away in a different state.

Write or call Lieutenant Governor Dave O'Neal's Senior Actions at 160 N. LaSalle St., Chicago 60601, or 3 West Old Town Mall, Springfield 62701, with questions or concerns about any government agency or programs. This column will be covering the questions senior citizens have in various subjects.

Three Thanksgiving services for area

The first of three community Thanksgiving services planned this year by the Quad-Cities Ministerial Alliance will be held at Trinity United Methodist Church, 25th and Henry streets, on Sunday evening, Nov. 19, at 7 o'clock.

The Grace Baptist Church choir, the Young People's Singing Company of the Salvation Army, and the Sanctuary Choir of the First United Presbyterian Church will add a musical dimension to the celebration.

The Rev. Paul Bryant, pastor of the host church, will lead the worship service.

The Nameoki Presbyterian Church, 1700 Pontoon Road, will host an 8 p.m. service on Sunday, Nov. 19, according to the minister, the Rev. Don F. Pierson.

The Rev. Marvin Peters, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will deliver the Thanksgiving meditation and the musical segment will be presented by the St. Elizabeth Catholic Choir, the choir of Central Free Methodist Church and the Chancel Choir of the host church.

A third community service will be held in the Madison United Methodist Church at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 22. The message will be brought by the Rev. John Battistini of the Venice United Methodist Church.

The combined choirs of the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches and the Golden Age Bell Ringers will provide special music.

The public is invited to share in these Thanksgiving celebrations, it was announced by the Rev. Peters, president of the Quad-Cities Ministerial Alliance, with membership composed of ministers of area churches.

Rite among contractors for new tertiary treatment plant

The Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees has authorized a capital project total of $608,000 and has contracted the award of construction contracts for a tertiary treatment facility at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

In action at Carbondale, the board also accepted an additional grant of $40,000 from the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) for the project.

Concurring with the awards of contracts by the Capital Development Board (CDB), the SIU trustees announced that the successful low bidders are: J. J. Altman and Co., East St. Louis, general construction, $264,640; France Plumbing, Heating & Air Conditioning Co., Edwardsville, ventilation work, $7,975, and plumbing, $221,000; and Rite Electrical Co., Granite City, electrical work, $42,836.

Trustees approved a contingency fund of $10,549 and architect-engineer fees and reimbursements of $61,900, for a total amended budget of $608,000.

The project originally was budgeted at $568,000, but after CDB received two sets of bids, with most of the bids exceeding estimates both times, the IEPA agreed to provide the additional $40,000 needed for the project.

IEPA grants for the project now total $155,000, and the balance of $453,000 is being provided by state funds appropriated to the CDB.

The university has sought since 1973 to obtain funding to add tertiary treatment facilities to its waste treatment plant.

In March 1974, the board approved the addition of tertiary treatment facilities as part of the advanced waste treatment and operators training facility project, for which SIUE received an IEPA grant in 1975.

The original IEPA grant for tertiary treatment was insufficient because of the impact of inflation on construction costs, and additional funding was sought through state appropriations.

Crime resistance alert—beware the child molester

(Federal Bureau of Investigation)

The child molester is, unfortunately, a very real and dangerous threat to our children.

While it is impossible to predict the actions of these criminals, we do know that they frequently prey upon youngsters who are alone.

Although the presence of more than one child does not offer absolute protection in all circumstances, these criminals often avoid such situations in which their chances of being identified are increased.

With these facts in mind, here are some crime-resistance measures that may help enhance the safety of your children:

Advise children to play or travel together in groups or at least in pairs and not to drift off or lag behind.

Teach older children to look after younger children.

Caution your children about child molesters, reminding them that such individuals are not always strangers but may be persons who live or work in your neighborhood.

Inform children of the methods — promises of candy or ice cream, for instance — these criminals may use to lure them from their companions or a car or building. Instruct your children not to be afraid to tell you if they are accosted by a stranger, a neighbor, a friend of the family, or even a relative.

Regularly remind your children not to speak to strangers or accept gifts from them. Tell them never to get into a car with anyone unless they have your permission to do so.

Make it a regular practice to look out for children in your neighborhood. Report any suspicious loiterers or vehicles to police. If children appear to be in trouble, offer assistance or call the police.

Do not immediately disregard children's attempts to explain someone's strange actions toward them. If you have knowledge that a child has been sexually molested, immediately notify police.

Education is the most effective defense against the child molester.

If the child is aware of the methods used by these criminals, he will be better prepared to avoid victimization.

If we all bear the above crime resistance tips in mind, our children might be better protected against criminal victimization.

Continuing education office is established

The Office of Off-Campus Programs at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has been renamed the Office of Continuing Education, the administrative reorganization has been authorized by the SIU Board of Trustees.

University officials said no expansion of the activities of the unit is anticipated, but the charge of the unit is being expanded to permit consolidation of administrative responsibility over related functions.

It was explained that the Office of Off-Campus Programs has assumed additional continuing education responsibilities since the unit was created in May 1974, including continuing education courses offered at both off- and on-campus locations through the Office of Conferences and Institutes; the development and implementation of seminars and workshops both on- and off-campus; and coordination of continuing education activities with other units, schools and departments at SIUE.

Officials said the change in unit designation will more accurately describe the activities and functions of the unit.

The Office of Conferences and Institutes and the Office of Off-Campus Programs will continue to operate as subordinate units within the Office of Continuing Education and will report to the director.

No additional funding needs are anticipated as a result of the change.

Phone center store expands

"Ideas about what a telephone should look like will change when visitors see Illinois Bell's new expanded PhoneCenter Store, No. 2 Crossroads Plaza, Granite City. The PhoneCenter Store will serve customers in the Quad City area.

"Most people are used to shopping in a retail-like environment and they should enjoy shopping this way," said Ken L. Evers, local Illinois Bell Manager.

"The PhoneCenter Store offers customers a chance to see the wide variety of styles and colors that are available. We received such great customer acceptance of our 'mini' PhoneCenter Store which opened last year, that we had to enlarge the store. We now have twice the space for customers to look at and try our big variety of telephones."

Customers with homes equipped with jacks or wall plug-in outlets can pick the colors and models they want, take the phone home, and plug them in without waiting for an installer to visit.

"Customers who have homes wired for plug-in phones also can save about 25 percent ($6) of the installation charge," Evers said.

"A lot of area homes have modular outlets and the percentage is increasing each day. As people move in and out of homes, company installers change existing outlets to modular outlets."

"Customers without modular outlets also can save $2 by picking up their phones at the PhoneCenter Store. An installer will then visit their homes and install the modular outlets."

"PhoneCenter Stores are part of a new retailing approach by the Bell System to make it easier for customers to select phones and services. Illinois Bell plans to have 80 PhoneCenter Stores in operation by the end of the year.

"The variety of telephones available increases sharply with the introduction of Design Line phones," Evers said.

"There's even a Mickey Mouse phone, and a Snoopy & Woodstock phone."

"The Tri-Cities PhoneCenter Store is a full-service telephone convenience center."

"In addition to selecting phones, customers can pay their bills, pick up telephone directories, and ask service representatives questions they have about their phone service. The PhoneCenter Store is open from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. Monday through Friday."

Deny new trial in guard kidnapping

The Seventh U.S. Court of Appeals has denied requests by convicted murderers Raymond C. Milenz, 34, and Dennis Kirksey, 25, for new trials on charges they kidnapped two Missouri prison guards in December, 1977. It was announced last week.

They were sentenced in February to serve life terms for the offense by U.S. District Judge J. Waldo Ackerman in federal court. The appeal claimed that Ackerman erred during the trial by allowing testimony on their previous criminal backgrounds, should have disqualified himself in the case, "abused his discretion," and sentenced them improperly.

The two men are serving 20 to 30 year prison terms on a murder charge in connection with the death of Mrs. Mary Ann Cress of Godfrey.

They pleaded guilty to murder after a car in which they were being chased crashed into Mrs. Cress' auto on the Great River Road near Alton in December, 1977, a short time after they overpowered guards and took their car.

Workshop on governmental board women

A workshop for women policymakers in local government will be held at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville on Saturday from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Sponsored by the Graduate Urban Studies Program (692-2022) at the university and by the Women's Political Caucus, sessions will take place in Room 2409 of Classroom Building II. The workshop will focus on women serving as effective legislators and policymakers, with emphasis on acquisition of skills in issue analysis, service delivery monitoring, budgeting and planning.

Keynote speakers, Geraldine Osborn of the St. Louis Board of Aldermen and Katie Wright, a board member of the East St. Louis School District, will offer their insights on qualities of effective leadership, as well as methods and political tactics successfully employed by women in policymaking positions.

Illinois elected officials and SUE faculty will also present their perspectives on implementing local government legislative and policy responsibilities. Co-chaired by Cathy Rosen of the Fairview Heights City Council and Jane O'Neill of Alton's City Council, the workshop is open to all interested women. A question and answer period will be included for the discussion of issues and problems confronting women.

RECORDER, PILLS TAKEN

A $75 tape recorder and three bottles of prescription medication were stolen from the home of Ernest Hale, 2236 Iowa St., early this week. A door was kicked and broken to gain entry.

SUE weather status will be given on radio

All major radio stations in the area will carry announcements of cancellation of classes at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville if weather conditions warrant such a decision, according to Dr. Ria Frijters, vice-president for business affairs.

In addition, the 24-hour answering service of the University Information Center, telephone 692-7739, will have the latest available information on class cancellations.

Generally, weather conditions will not close the university, but classes may be temporarily cancelled in severe conditions, Dr. Frijters said this week.

If cancellation of classes is authorized, University News Services will be directed to notify radio stations and the Information Center. Eighteen stations in Illinois and Missouri will be asked to carry the announcements in addition to WSUE-FM (88.7), the campus radio station.

Dr. Frijters said the typical announcement most frequently used would be: "Classes are cancelled, and offices are open at SUE." If classes are cancelled for a few hours, the message might be: "SUE is open, but classes are cancelled until 10:30 a.m."

Decisions about cancellations will be aired by 6:30 a.m. for morning classes and by 4 p.m. for evening classes.

2 women abducted, escape Comedy scenes at area college

Madison County sheriff's detectives are investigating reports by two young St. Louis women that they were abducted early this week by two men and were taken to Eagle Park Acres where they escaped.

The victims, ages 18 and 20, said they came from St. Louis by bus Sunday night and got off at 12th Street and Madison Avenue.

They started to walk to a friend's home in the Cloverleaf Subdivision and stopped at a tavern briefly and then continued on foot.

A green car with two black men in it stopped and the men offered the young women a ride, they related, noting they refused. The car then went around the block and followed them to Allon Avenue where the vehicle passed them, stopped in a driveway in front of them and the driver got out, grabbed one of the women and stated, "You are going with me," and displayed a gun, deputies were told.

The two were forced in the vehicle and were driven to Eagle Park Acres where one woman was forced to get in the back seat with one of the men.

They then stopped near Roosevelt Avenue and Terry Street in Eagle Park where the auto stopped near a vacant building, it was related.

When one of the women stated, "We shouldn't have come over here," one of the men slapped her. She jumped out of the car and ran. The other victim also escaped, but her arm was twisted as she broke free, deputies were told.

The women stopped a passing motorist who took them to a home from where they called deputies and reported the incident. They were not molested, they reported.

Absentee voting on park bonds

Absentee ballots for voting in the Park District referendum on a $1.7 million bond issue to finance park improvements are now available and must be returned to the park district secretary not later than 5 p.m. Friday, Nov. 24, it was announced today.

The referendum will be held Saturday, Nov. 25, on a proposal to sell $1,785,000 in general obligation bonds to build a new Wilson Park swimming pool and to finance improvements, including new tennis courts, in Wilson, Worthen and West Granite parks.

Frank Rea, Park Board secretary, said absentee ballots required by voters who will not be in the district Saturday, or otherwise unable to vote at regular polling places, may be picked up at his office at Sketty's Jewelry, 1304 Niedringhaus Ave.

The ballots may be marked and then returned to his office by the 5 p.m. deadline Nov. 24, the day before the election, Rea said. Under election law, absentee ballots must be returned in time to distribute them to the respective polling places on the morning of the election date.

This means that anyone planning to mail an absentee ballot of his office must do so in time for it to reach him in the morning mail delivery on Friday, Nov. 24, Rea explained.

Acne needs treatment

Acne is a common skin condition that affects most people during the teen years, sometimes into the 20s. The American Medical Association points out that something can be done about acne. Waiting to "outgrow" acne can be a serious mistake. Treatment can improve appearance and minimize the problem of permanent scars.

Acne consists of blackheads, whiteheads, pimples and sometimes small boils. It appears most often on the face, but also shows up on the back, chest, shoulders and neck.

Even though treatment includes washing frequently with mild soap and warm water, acne is not a disease of dirt. It begins under the skin, not on top of it.

Acne also is not primarily a dietary disease, but some patients find that certain foods, particularly chocolate and fats, make their acne worse. However, following the strictest diet will not, by itself, clear the skin.

Lotions and creams available at the drugstore may help somewhat. It's important to read the directions on the label and follow them carefully. If the skin becomes irritated, stop using the lotion.

Medicated preparations are available to cover the blemishes. Non-cosmetics usually are preferable. All cosmetics should be removed at bedtime.

If acne persists despite good cleaning and proper use of lotions and creams, the physician may be able to help. He may prescribe a preparation to apply to the skin to reduce oiliness and produce mild peeling. He may open the inflamed lesions and remove some of the blackheads. He most certainly will warn against picking, scratching, squeezing or squeezing the blackheads and pimples. This may make things worse.

No more beer for 'Archie Bunker'

"All In The Family" star CARROLL O'CONNOR collapses on the set and is ordered by his doctors to change his lifestyle, or else.

It seems Archie Bunker is having severe high blood pressure problems and is suffering from hypertension. He must lose weight immediately, end all smoking and drinking, otherwise he is running the risk of a heart attack.

Will BARRY MANILOW be the new "king of the silver screen" or whatever?

Barry is thinking of taking the Hollywood yellow brick road to stardom like JOHN TRAVOLTA and PETER FRAMPTON by accepting the lead in the flick "Promises, Promises."

Although Barry hasn't signed on the dotted line, he's shown enough interest to request script rewrites.

Does JACKIE ONASSIS have a couple of top secret surprises up her Halston sleeve?

Friends are beginning to wonder out loud if she's going to marry a certain Arabian sheikh who's worth BIG $$$.

Jackie sure doesn't need the money — she just turned down a half a million dollars for son JOHN JOHN to star in a movie about the early years of his dad.

Jackie seems to be upset with movie companies that have the Kennedys on their minds. She isn't speaking to DAVID NIVEN since his son bought the screen rights to "Shall We Tell The President?" — a fictional account of an assassination attempt on SEN. EDWARD KENNEDY. If you recall, this is the book that made Jackie quit her post at Viking Press, the publishers of the book.

Now isn't this the kicker. Just when LESLIE ANN WARREN's career was on the way back up, after she received praise from the critics and high ratings playing a prostitute in NBC's "79 Park Avenue," NBC's FREDDIE SILVERMAN, gave her show the ax.

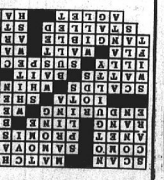

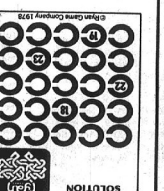

The show was a mini-series last year, and this year the network had planned to run a six-hour sequel. However, when Freddie "look over" he laid down the law at his new NBC home. He announced that he was going to avoid exploitations and ordered the show canceled.

Leslie's telling friends, "Isn't that the kicker? He's the man who brought the show canceled on television and that's not exactly a kiddie's religious program."

4 tips for fishermen

- Many boats have live wells with a self-draining feature to circulate fresh water. That's fine until you move the boat, and then all the water is siphoned out of the well. End this problem by whitening a cork plug to fill the drain hole.
- Push it in place when you're ready to move to a new spot; pull it out when the boat is not moving.
- Leave the plug in the live well and it'll never be lost.
- Small jars of fingernail polish can make a difference in your fishing luck.
- Carried in a tackle box, various colors of nail polish can be applied to a lure to change its appearance and make it more appealing to fish.
- Small boat fishermen are often forgetful and are running while a stringer of fish is still over the side.
- Cure the memory lapse by tying an extra length of cord to the end of the stringer and then attaching the line to the tiller handle of your outboard.
- You'll be reminded of the stringer each time you touch the tiller handle.
- If you like to keep a variety of lures handy in a small boat, cut a 12-inch-square of rubber-backed, all-weather carpet and glue it to the inside hull near your seat. You'll be able to push lures into the fabric and remove them without difficulty.

Tax credit for energy conservation in homes

Homeowners will receive a tax credit of up to $300 for taking steps to conserve energy, such as insulating their homes and installing storm windows, under provisions of the National Energy Act newly signed into law by President Carter.

The tax credit is retroactive to April 20, 1977, and will remain available through 1985. A tax credit is deducted from the income tax due for any given year.

The insulation credit is 15 percent of the first $2,000 spent by the homeowner, or a maximum of $300.

In addition to insulation and storm windows, the tax credit is applicable to the cost of installing better furnace burners, devices for modifying flue openings, ignition systems that replace gas pilot lights, storm doors, thermal windows and doors, clock thermostats and caulking or weatherstripping.

Further, under provisions of the law, homeowners who install solar, wind or geothermal equipment are entitled to a 30 percent tax credit on the first $2,000 spent and 20 percent on the next $8,000 for a maximum credit of $2,000.

This tax credit also is retroactive to April 20, 1977, the date President Carter sent his energy message to Congress.

The new law also provides a 10 percent tax credit to businesses, in addition to the regular 10 percent investment credit, for buying certain energy-saving equipment. Information and confirmation must be obtained from federal government sources.

The Human Resources Department of St. Louis County has been promoting a home energy conservation program since July 1977. The department made its first home inspection in August 1977.

Upon request by county residents, the department sends an inspector into homes to thoroughly inspect them and make recommendations as to what steps might be taken to make the homes more efficient in the conservation of energy. The inspector's report is given to the homeowner in writing and without charge.

The homeowner, being in possession of the inspector's report, is regarded as better prepared to discuss terms with any contractor or dealer called in to estimate the cost of proposed improvements.

St. Clair and Madison counties in Illinois have initiated roughly similar programs, federal officials say.

In St. Louis City, Senior Home Security, an agency supported by federal funds, has a program to assist elderly persons of the poverty level to weatherize their homes. Materials are furnished at near cost and labor is free.

A pamphlet, "Facts On Home Insulation," is available at the Better Business Bureau, Illinois Power Co., Union Electric Co. and Laclede Gas Co. to individuals upon request. One may be obtained by telephoning 313-3130, or writing the BBB at 915 Olive St., St. Louis 63101.

To ask warrant in stereo theft

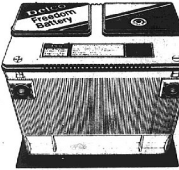

Granite City police plan to apply to the Madison County State's Attorney's Office for a felony warrant against a 17-year-old youth from the 1900 block of Adams Street who allegedly stole a stereo from the home of Donna Ryan, 2035 Madison Ave., during the weekend.

Police were told that a young man was carrying a stereo at 21st Street and Grand Avenue. Police located the youth and confiscated the stereo, pending investigation.

The youth was charged with a curfew violation and was released on $35 cash bond, pending the possible filing of an additional charge.

Mrs. Ryan's 15-year-old son said he found the front and basement doors of their home open and noticed the stereo was missing. He identified the stereo police had confiscated as the one taken from his home.

Card of Thanks 32

WE WISH to extend our heartfelt thanks to all who so kindly assisted and for the words of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings extended at the death of our beloved mother, SIDDIE KATHRYN LOWE. Special thanks to Rev. Hooker, Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Betty) Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. John Lowe.

The Family of ROSAMOND JOHNSON wishes to express their gratitude to those who helped them through their recent loss. For the many beautiful memorials, cards and floral offerings. To Rev. David Maxton and Isabel Schmidt, organist. To the ladies of First Presbyterian Church for the lovely dinner. To the Eastern Star and White Shrine for their services and pallbearers from the same. Special thanks to Randall Irwin and the Irwin Chapel for funerals for their kindness and understanding.

In Memoriam 33

In loving memory of EDW. LANE. Passed away Nov. 12, 1971. The flowers we place upon your grave may wither and decay, but love for you who sleeps beneath will never fade away. Sadly missed by Wife, sons and family.

In Loving Memory of EVERETT W. EDGES, November 19, 1974. From this world of pain and sorrow. To the land of peace and rest. God has taken you, dear Everett. Where you have found eternal rest. When his listless hands were folded. Across his pulseless breast. I know the gates were opened. And Everett was at rest. Somewhere on the unseen shore. He watches, beckons and waits for me. When over the river, the peaceful river. The angel of death shall carry me. Sadly missed by Wife, Daughter, Son and Family.

Happy Thanksgiving

Let's give thanks for all the joys of the past year. And for the bountiful gifts of food, housing and clothing. Give thanks for the warmth and love of family and friends, for the freedoms and opportunities available to all of us. In the spirit of the early pilgrims, let's gather up the family for a turkey feast and give thanks... It's been an American tradition since 1621.
